TEXAS FOOTBALL, an annual preview of Texas college and high school football, says Cameron hopes to move up in 20-AA after a 7-3, third-place season behind the Eagles and Round Rock last fall.

Taylor Ducks come to town Friday night to see how well the Yoemen follow through with the return of 12 lettermen, six on offense and six on defense. The traditional test is the opener for both teams and is one of the major home-game attractions in the Yoe season.

Tuesday night, Hal Stanislaw and his staff were discussing starting assignments after the afternoon's workouts. The 30-man varsity may have some surprises for the 1970 Yoe fan.

Stanislaw was apparently evaluating all the practice sessions to see who would get the starting nods, which is no surprise. It is possible some of the young talent off the freshman bench last year or new players out for the first time may draw assignments, offense and defense.

Football has changed so much in the past generation that it takes a minimum of 25 to keep better players at special offense and defense positions. Fewer players "go both ways" because it is better to run two boys on offense and defense at the same position. Most teams do, if they have depth.

It would be no surprise to see some new talent in there early in the non-district season as Stanislaw and his coaches evaluate player potential for individual performance as they have been evaluating for squad depth in practice sessions and scrimmages.

This is not the largest Yoe squad in recent years, but at least seven on the roster clear 175 pounds or more.

It is one of the more experienced clubs considering the 12 returning veterans. It is a lot easier to build a defensive and offensive squad with a half-dozen each to start with.

It is difficult to make a prediction on the opener between Taylor and the Yoemen. But the homefield is an advantage and a veteran squad, minus one player Norman Trubee out with the measles, should turn the trick Yoeward.

Milam Fields Show New Drilling Activity

By Lloyd Albertson

Oil drilling activity in the south Milam County area is continuing at a steady pace, with the Cherokee Navarro Field near Milano gaining two more wells, two new oilers brought in in the Milbur Field, and a new wildcat also scheduled for that field.

Also, according to oil patch rumor, five or six new wildcats are due to be scheduled in the Cherokee Navarro Field area almost immediately.

The two new wells in the Cherokee Navarro Field are the Fred L. Gaines No. 1 and No. 2 Lillian Beard. Location is on a 100 acre lease in the James Welch Survey.

Gaines scheduled his No. 1 Lillian Beard in mid-July, earlier it had been reported that three Houston oilmen, R. E. Zimmerman, Robert E. Fendley and James B. Whitley, would drill the wildcats, but Gaines is listed as operator.

Potential figures have not yet been released on the two wells, which produce from the Navarro. The Lillian Beard lease is near the No. 1 Wallace and Coleman Beard, which a Farmington, New Mexico, operator, David Thomas, brought in as a 61.25 barrel per day producer early this year.

The two new wells in the Milbur Field were drilled by Keese and Thomas, a pair of Farmington operators, and are located across the Milam line in Burleson County. Both were old dry holes drilled and abandoned by other companies.

Polls Open Saturday For Milano-CISD Merge Vote

In Grid Opener...

Yoemen-Ducks Clash Friday

The Taylor Ducks Friday night will renew opening game rivalry with the host Yoemen, a team the Ducks whipped in the 1969 opener in Taylor, 25-7. Kickoff for the 1970 Yoe opener is 8 p.m. at Yoe Field.

Taylor coach Cliff Vandeventer brings a big, fast club to Yoeman turf Friday night, Yoe coach Hal Stanislaw says.

And the Yoe head coach says he will be playing quite a number of Yoemen mixed with 12 veterans to work for balance and team strength.

Familiar names like Robert Brashear at quarterback and Emanuel Thomas at left half are in the Yoe lineup, joined by Earnie DeLa Rosa, a freshman right half, and fullback Ed Whitley, new names on the starting roster. DeLa Rosa is starting at right half since Jerry Richardson, a senior safety and halfback, has an injured shoulder, but who will see action at safety.

Gone are John Steamer and James Laury, who gave Cameron a steady inside and outside threat in a 7-3 season last year.

SIZE UP FRONT

But Stanislaw has size in the offensive lineup with tackles David Fritz

at 213 and Jack Raymond at 200 and right guard Jesse Reyes at 175. DeLa Rosa is a 182-pound freshman who joins defensive tackle Joe Lewis and senior Mark Dodson in training for field goals and kickoffs.

Reyes, Richard Cummings and Ken McLerran, punter for two years, are working on Yoe punting chores.

Taylor has 13 boys of a 31-man squad at 175 pounds or better. It is the largest club Taylor has fielded in years, Stanislaw says.

He expects Herbert Reese and George Faltesak, Taylor ends, and quarterback Tim Kennedy to give Cameron defense problems. Kennedy can run or throw, Stanislaw says, and Taylor backs Valery Jackson, Lee Crowell and James Harrison widen the Yoemen's defense problem.

As if to anticipate the passing threat Taylor poses, Stanislaw now calls his defensive ends cornerbacks, who will be Jim Bailey and McLerran, backed up by Lester Hayes and Robert Kretschmar.

NEW ROLES

Stanislaw says "people are passing so much the defensive role of the end has changed."

Cameron team injuries or sickness includes the Richardson shoulder injury and Norma Trubee, two-year letterman, sidelined with measles.

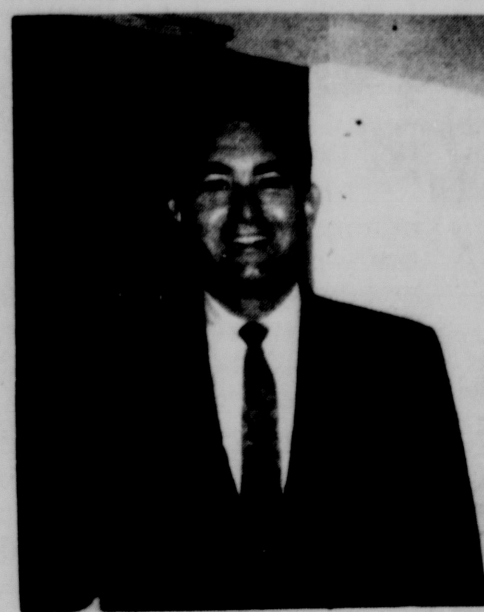

A capacity crowd is anticipated to see the renewal of the long-standing Duck-Yoemen rivalry. Taylor has held the edge in the last three meetings, Stanislaw says, because they seem to reach mid-season form early.

The Ducks won scrimmages over A&M Consolidated and Austin Crockett, a 4A school, prior to the Yoe opener. Probable starting lineups are:

YOEMEN (Offense)	TAYLOR
Split End Carroll Michalka	Herbert Reese
LT Jack Raymond	John McDonald
LG Prentiss McGoldrick	Charles Fuller
C Darrell Schneider	Mark Winkelman
RG Jesse Reyes	Ken Schaefer
RT David Fritz	Cliff Hamons
RE Mike Zajicek	George Faltesak
QB Robert Brashear	Tim Kennedy
LH Emanuel Thomas	James Harrison
RH Ernie DeLa Rosa	Valery Jackson
FB Ed Whitley	Lee Crowell

and Randy Tumlinson; guards Dale Schigut and Ed Whitley; linebackers John Bailey and Sam Knight; halfbacks Richard Cummings and Robert Brashear; safety Jerry Richardson or Joe Vaculin.

ELEMENTARY TUTOR - Jerry Secrest in his "mini" classroom at Ada Henderson School has been employed by Cameron Schools as a "roving" tutor for grades 1 through 5. Secrest, a graduate of Stephen F. Austin College, will provide individual tutoring in math and science. A native of Kilgore, he previously taught at Pt. Arthur and Vidor and at an Army school in Japan. Last year he was a graduate student at Indiana University. Special tutoring is also available in reading and language arts through the school's remedial aid program.

Badgers - Eagles

The Buckholts Badgers meet the Milano Eagles at 8 p.m. Friday night on Badger Field for their first non-district game of the season.

Texas Independence...

Was It Signed In Milam Co.?

A memorial plaque at Washington on the Brazos marks the spot claimed as the place where the Texas Declaration of Independence was signed, but local legend at Block House Springs (near Cross Roads in Milam County) says the memorial stone might be mis-placed.

James Patzke, whose family home is at Block House Springs, has been told since childhood that Texas Independence was declared on the banks of the Brazos River in Milam County.

As the story was related to him, J. G. Hilge, an early Milam County resident, was bringing the word of James Buchanan's election in 1857 when he came upon F. H. Pieper who was topping an Oak tree at Block House Springs. Hilge asked what he was doing and Pieper replied: "I'm topping the tree to mark this place for our grandchildren where the Texas Declaration of Independence from Mexico was signed in 1836."

And so the story has been continued by word of mouth and the topped oak tree is known to all who live in the area.

Patzke credits W. C. Wiese, another early resident, with keeping the legend alive. Wiese fought in the Battle of Waterloo in 1815 with Blucher's Prussian Army before migrating to the United States and eventually to Block House Springs, then known as part of the Sterling C. Robertson grant. He was an officer under General Sam Houston facing the armies of Santa Anna, and as memento Houston gave him an anvil which has been treasured by his descendants.

Wiese was a blacksmith by trade and a leader in the Block House community. During his residence the community had a saloon, church and the Block House which originally was a fort built for the protection of the settlers against Indians. When meetings of the area residents were felt necessary, Wiese would call an assembly with his ram's horn.

Patzke said some people dispute that there was an actual church at the river bank community, but it was the place where worshipers gathered annually for two-week camp meetings.

Others who told the story of the Declaration of Independence signing were August Block who was born in 1822 and died in 1899 and J. B. Burkholder 1843 - 1909. All are buried at String Prairie Cemetery except Hilge who had a family cemetery at his home.

Patzke said the story has logic because of the setting of Blockhouse Springs in a direct line between Crockett and

San Antonio. He said it was also the southern-most location where the Brazos River could be crossed by ford.

It could be that the Declaration of Independence marker is mis-placed, or it is possible that Blockhouse Springs was one of several places where independence was declared. Texas history notes that several local assemblies declared Texas an independent state in late 1835 and early 1836.

NATURAL MARKER - this topped tree marks the spot where the late F. H. Pieper said Texas Declaration of Independence from Mexico was asserted. The tree is on property now owned by Pete Gibson in the old Blockhouse Springs community of Milam County.

Consolidation Sought For School Districts

Voters in the Milano and Cameron school districts will decide Saturday if the two districts will consolidate.

Polls will open at 8 a.m. at the voting places -- the high school office at Milano and the high school gym at Cameron, and will close at 7 p.m. Voting is expected to be fairly heavy on the controversial proposal, sought by petitions from both districts.

The petitions were presented to Milam County Judge O. B. Harden in August, requesting County Commissioners' Court to call a consolidation election.

The petition from Cameron had 34 signatures. The one from Milano originally had 49 signatures, however, two signers later asked that their names be removed from the petition. State law requires 20 signatures on petitions from each district.

The majority of signers on the Milano petition live in outlying areas of the district.

Some of the issues in the election are:

Milano residents have expressed fears about losing their schools. Cameron school officials pointed out that, if the districts consolidate, grades 1 through 8 would be schooled in Milano, with high school students attending in Cameron. No changes would be made this year. Another issue is the tax structure. Milano trustees increased valuation from 20 to 45 percent of market value this year; Cameron trustees increased valuation from 25 to 50 percent.

Consolidation would result in a combined enrollment of about 2,000 students. Cameron registered 1,652 students on opening day and Milano reported anticipated enrollment of 320.

The two school budgets, if combined, would total $1,191,529, using this year's budget figures. Consolidation of the two districts would result in the new district receiving about $314,270 in Incentive Aid Funds.

These funds may be used for permanent improvements or for a reduction in the tax structure.

A statement issued by Cameron Supt. D. R. Dodson listed 34 subjects offered in Yoe High School for the 1970-71 year. A statement mailed to The Herald from Milano School, titled "Facts and Information Concerning Milano Schools," did not list subjects offered.

The statement said, "It is true that Milano presents a limited curriculum, but the standards set forth by the Texas Education Agency are more than met by the Milano Schools. All of the fundamental courses basic to any good education are offered by Milano Schools."

"Students are required to take vocational subjects," the statement continued, "which is not the case in larger schools. These courses are beneficial to any student, regardless of his future endeavors."

The Cameron statement cited these student records:

"The Cameron Schools last year produced a Merit scholar; the highest ranking student in the school of engineering at the University of Texas; distinguished scholars at A&M, SMU, Texas Tech and Baylor."

"Cameron students receive a number of scholarships each year in music, science and math. Most college bound students also qualify for advance placement, some picking up as many as 12 semester hours of college credit."

The Milano statement said: "The graduates of Milano have done well in college or in industry. Records show that numerous students have made the Dean's list in colleges throughout the State and four students have achieved the most enviable award in our area, that being the Alcoa Scholarship."

"This year the highest ranking student in this entire area came from Milano High School. This selection is based not only on local records, but also on National Achievement Records. This should prove the worth of our school."

Martinez Named Acting PD Chief

Your Kids? Or A Few Jobs?

To sum up, your Cameron Herald is for the consolidation of the Milano and Cameron Independent School Districts.

Reasons are numerous in previous editorials such as "What of the Child", "The Larger Truth", "Convinced The More", "Times, Schools Are Changed", "Lucky, Despite Obligations" and several Herald front-page columns.

The time is at hand to choose between your children's future and community pride. The day is Saturday, September 12, to progress.

It is not an easy decision. But there is no question which is more important, is there?

It is no time to ignore the revolution in schools and people of the future, your children of the present. It is hardly time to tell children in Milano classrooms how their parents ought to vote. That is poor judgment and poor leadership in the classroom. It should be resented by parents of Milano pupils. It may be basis for invalidating an election.

It is time, however, for those children to ask parents what is most important in modern classrooms. And parents will tell those children that technical training or better college prep or better specific training is a must in modern high school education.

Milanoans fear for their community. They should fear for their children's future.

More than 90 percent will spend that future somewhere else. Cameron is able to offer Milano high school students about 15 more courses in present academics and is able to assure future technical training not possible in Milano, or any other small school. The advantages in athletics and extra-curricular activities are obvious.

What are you going to tell your children? That their interests are less than yours? That you are afraid of the future? That they ought to be? That civic pride and a few jobs are more important?

This is hardly a one-way advantage for Cameron. It is truly a partnership in the most sweeping period of change in Texas education history, one a consolidation turn-down would ignore.

A combined Cameron-Milano district will mean more than $310,000 in state incentive aid to the combined district. It will combine budgets for at least a $1.2 million annual budget. Cameron is in line for additional federal funds to assist its completed desegregation move. The combination is strong medicine for any real academic and technical program.

"What of the child," Milanoans? What of "The Larger Truth" no amount of complacency, community pride and passivity can answer?

Which is it? Your children? Or a few jobs? Think about it.

Major Tax Bill Looms For Texans Next Year

By Vern Sanford

AUSTIN A veteran state tax bill author predicts that the Legislature will be levying more new taxes on Texans next year than the king-sized $348.6 million revenue bill of 1969.

Forecast was offered by Rep. Ben Atwell of Dallas, chairman of the House Revenue and Taxation Committee and head of the Committee on State and Local Tax Policy.

Bolstering Atwell statistically was James W. McGrew, research director of Texas Research League, who acknowledged that his original estimate of a $400 million tax bill "looks smaller all the time."

LI. Gov. Ben Barnes frankly concedes that a major tax bill is looming -- unless the federal government agrees to some form of unrestricted revenue sharing with the states or picks up the entire tab for welfare aid. Barnes further acknowledged that he is not optimistic about prospects for a federal rescue in the nick of time. This view was heartily concurred in by Atwell.

Although Barnes and Atwell did not appear far apart in their estimates of revenue need, they were speaking a different language as to sources.

Atwell, who declined recommendations at this point, told newsmen he thinks an increase in the sales tax rate is likely and that the Legislature properly should look to broad-based taxation in 1971.

While going along with the possibility of a sales tax boost, the Lieutenant Governor said flatly that the Senate would insist on balancing any revenue bill with a corresponding tax on business.

Difference in viewpoints perhaps illustrates to some extent the divergence in House and Senate philosophies.

But, once more in harmony, Barnes and Atwell agreed that Texans will be facing state corporate and personal income taxes sometime during this decade.

INSURANCE HIKE DELAYED Further delay in a public hearing on auto insurance rates or investment income makes any rate increase this year even more unlikely than ever.

State Board of Insurance changed to October 19 the September 9 hearing on whether to consider insurance company investment income in determining insurance rates.

A three-way hearing on auto insurance rates, manual rules and policy forms will be held at a still later date to be announced in the future.

Investment income hearing originally had been slated for July 14 and the rate hearing August 17. One delay already had been ordered.

Companies had hoped to put any new rate increases into effect by September 1, but the delayed meetings made that impossible.

CRIME RATE UP Major crime rate in Texas rose 19.9 per cent for the first half of 1970, Col. Wilson E. Speir, Texas Department of Public Safety director, reports.

Latest statewide report reflects a major crime is committed every minute from January through June. Sheriffs and local police chiefs furnish the information.

Increase actually is 20.9 per cent in urban areas and 10.5 in rural territory.

Robbery shows the biggest jump -- 40.2 per cent. Rape increased 28.7 per cent, murder 28.1 per cent, theft 21.6 per cent, burglaries 17.9 per cent, auto thefts 16.5 per cent and aggravated assaults 10 per cent.

Speir said an estimated 233,599 major criminal offenses occurred during the January-June period. Comparison-wise, it was 4,404 per 100,000 population. Crime clearances (solutions) declined from 27 per cent during the first half of 1969 to 26 per cent for 1970, but the clearance rate for murder and robbery increased slightly.

ATTY GENERAL OPINIONS

Attorney General, on request of the Air Control Board, can take action based on violation of Board rules, but local government can take action to institute legal proceedings without

Board approval, says Atty. Gen. Crawford C. Martin.

In other recent opinions, Martin concluded that:

Any person receiving probation for driving while intoxicated who refuses to take a chemical breath test for d.w.i. is subject to administrative proceedings to revoke his license.

Neither the State Commissioner of Education nor the State Board of Education has power to determine unliquidated damages on appeal by a teacher dismissed without cause by a school district.

Governor may use his staff to provide direct planning aid to cities.

Higher education Coordinating Board's plan for junior college development lays out service areas, and a junior college district can be expanded under provisions of an applicable statute.

Parks and Wildlife Department can sell development bonds at cash only, and is not authorized to exchange bonds for land to be developed as a park site.

OLD PHILOSOPHER

Dear editor:

I have been reading the census figures for the whole country and find them almost completely alarming.

While the total population is increasing, some of the big cities are losing people, some of them as much as 15 per cent, and you know what that means. It means they're moving out to the suburbs.

Now that in itself is all right, I never could see why people wanted to crowd up in inner cities, after all, the country is now safe from Indian attacks, no use in everybody huddling up inside the fort, but if you look ahead you know what's going to happen. The people who overcrowded the inner cities will be forced long over-crowd the suburbs. They're just moving from one un-livable spot to another.

So what's going to happen? Some real estate man, when his suburban development gets choked up, is going to start saying, "Look, the place to live is out in the country. Plenty of fresh air, room for kids to run, no traffic congestion, no smog, etc. Get out of the un-livable suburbs and move to the country. Now I've got this tract of land about 20 miles out. . . .

This is what's alarming about the whole thing and if us country people are smart we'll start a campaign to frighten the people away.

Point out, for example, that country living is exaggerated. Water wells are always going dry, water pumps break down right when you have guests, septic tanks clog up, snakes and other varmints are dangerous, you have to gravel your own road, you're too far from the fire station and besides there aren't any fire plugs, if you think it's hard to get a repairman in town try to get one in your neighborhood school, there aren't even very many neighbors, you'll get lonesome out there, you're ten times as far from your job or the supermarket, there aren't any buses or taxis, there's no garbage pick-up, no home-delivery of newspapers, say, the last thing you want to do is move to the country. Life is miserable out there. Stay miserable where you are and save the cost of moving.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Bully On a Bus

Bus driver Hawkins noticed that one of his passengers, obviously drunk, was getting belligerent toward a young woman. Hoping things would calm down, Hawkins did not interfere.

But things did not calm down. On the contrary, the man climaxed his outburst by giving the woman a vicious kick in the shins.

In due course, she filed a damage suit against the bus company. And a court ruled that the company was indeed liable. The judge said Hawkins had failed to live up to his legal responsibility.

ties as the "man in charge" of the bus.

As a rule, a bus driver has the duty to do some basic policing of his vehicle. When one passenger menaces another, the driver cannot just take refuge in the role of a neutral bystander.

In fact, he may have to take affirmative action not only against grown-up bullies but also against youthful rascals. In another case several teenagers, armed with rubber bands, began firing paper clips around the interior of their school bus.

Again, the driver followed a hands-off policy. But when a girl was struck in the eye and injured, the bus company was held liable in court. The judge said the driver had an affirmative duty to halt this dangerous game.

Nevertheless, since he is not really a policeman, he does not have to go out of his way to search for trouble. Thus:

An intoxicated passenger jabbed a large pin into another man's hip. The indignant victim later demanded damages from the bus company, pointing out that his attacker had been quarrelsome and profane even before thrusting the pin.

But it also appeared that the fellow had been sitting far back in the bus, and that the driver had simply not been aware of his misbehavior. Accordingly, the court found no grounds for placing blame upon the driver.

"His primary duty," said the judge, "is to give his full attention to the operation of the bus. If he concentrates upon this all-important duty, he cannot give attention to the actions of the passengers unless so unusual as to demand it."

Start Fall Sown Pastures Now

By J. D. Moore

The shortage of grazing and hay caused by the lack of rain is creating a real problem for stockmen. A. C. Novosad, Extension specialist, says there are some things which can be done to help solve the problem provided soil moisture becomes available.

Perennial grass pastures should be fertilized now for increased fall production and quality, he says. If pastures have not been fertilized since spring, plant nutrients - especially nitrogen - have been depleted and an application now will correct this situation, he advises.

There is still plenty of growing time over much of the state for good production from bermuda, klein, buffel, love, bahia and other grasses. Forage from these grasses can be utilized for grazing or hay or left standing and grazed after frost.

Soil moisture must be available and Novosad has gone to the record books for that information.

A check of rainfall records from 34 stations over the state covering a 40-year period, shows the chances of receiving two inches of rainfall in September ranges from 50 to 80 percent in the eastern two-thirds of the state.

This probability, he points out, increases as you move from west to east. About the same probability also exists for October.

He notes that the probability for two inches of rain in both September and October is about the same as for a like amount in June in this area and is better than the probabilities for July and August.

Start Fall Sown Pastures Now

1. Prepare a good seed bed.
2. Apply a good application of fertilizer, 80-60-0.

3. Sow 60 lbs oats, 15 lbs rye grass - plant oats with a grain drill - drop rye on top of soil and harrow lightly.
4. Poison for army worms when oats are up to a good start.

SCS News

Increasing water infiltration, holding soil moisture, reducing erosion and improving the working ability of the soil, have always been problems with farmers.

These farming difficulties have been greatly reduced by one farmer in the Little River - San Gabriel Soil and Water Conservation District.

Larry Spiegelhauer has learned to manage his crop residue so he can better overcome these problems. Larry practices a conservation cropping system of two years out of three of grain sorghum on his cropland which he manages as a high residue soil improving crop.

He shreds his stalks as soon as the maize is combined and beds and rebeds his land. "I never graze, burn or bale maize stubble. I return 4-5 thousand pounds of maize stubble to the acre back to my land each year," Larry said.

Plowing in the manner which Larry does will leave about half the residue on or near the soil surface. This residue will help protect the soil during a critical erosion period from Sept. 1 to Dec. 31 when hard torrential rains often occur.

With more than 2 tons of crop residue mixed into his soil, Spiegelhauer has reduced the amount of runoff during a hard rain and increased the water infiltration rate of his soil.

The residue has reduced the rain drop impact, by slowing the rain drops down thus preventing the breakdown of soil aggregates. His fields now have more moisture because of the increased organic matter and the shading caused by the crop residue.

Larry said, "On occasion, I add 40 pounds of nitrogen per acre to prevent a nitrogen deficiency." About 20 pounds of N per acre per ton of crop residue may be needed to enable the bacteria in the soil to break down the stubble without tying up all the available nitrogen from the next crop.

Crop residue use is a very important part of my farming system," said Larry. For more information on how crop residue use can become a part of your farming system, consult your local Soil Conservation District and Soil Conservation Service.

Destroy Cotton Stalks To Combat Bollworm, Weevil

Shredding cotton stalks and plowing them under immediately following harvest has long been recognized by cotton producers as extremely important in combating the pink bollworm.

This practice is also most effective in reducing the potential diapausing boll weevil population, John G. Thomas, Extension entomologist, notes.

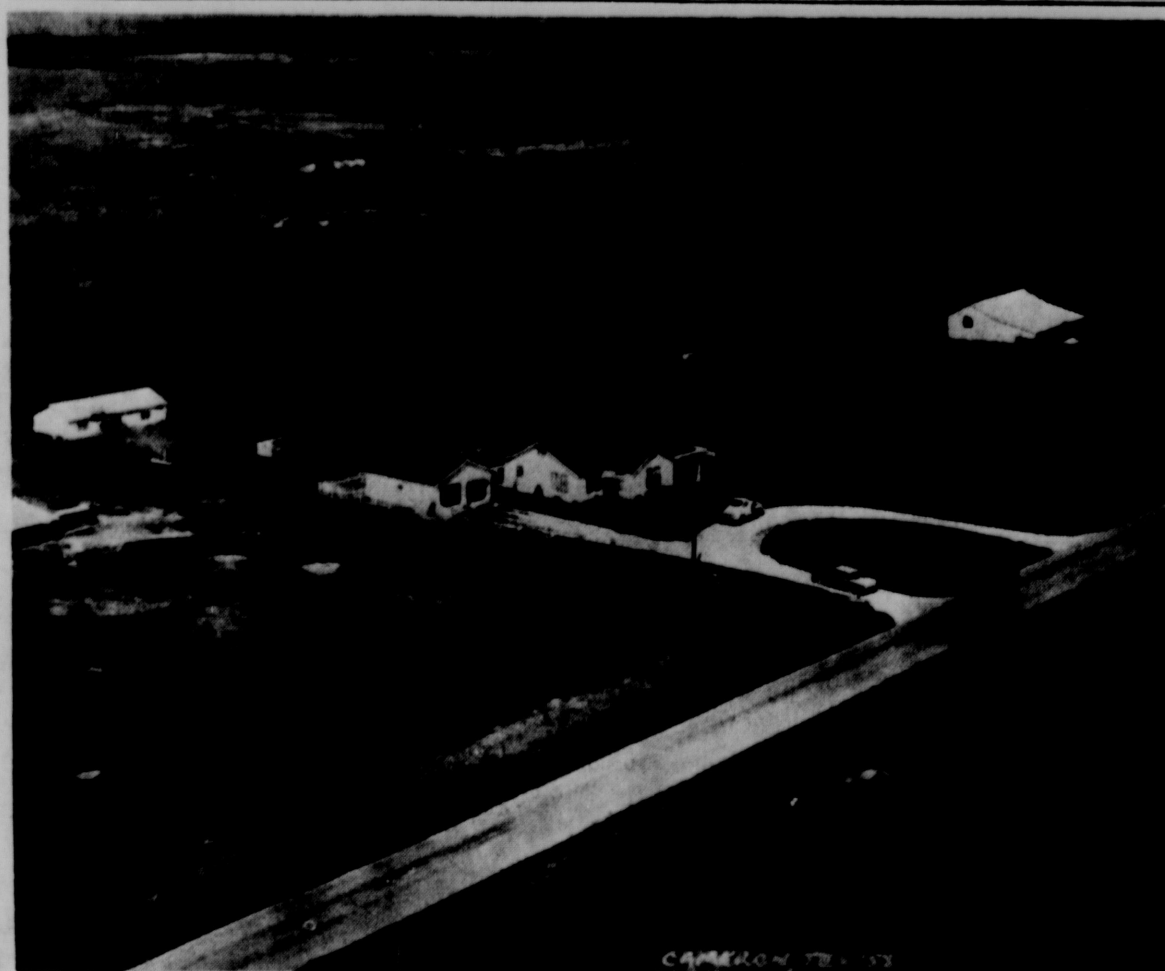

"Total stalk destruction immediately following harvest is not only extremely devastating to the boll weevil population, which is destined to enter diapause and infest fields the following year, but also adds little, if any, to the cotton production cost," Thomas said. Properly timing these operations consistently makes the difference in effective weevil suppression and results in reduced weevil numbers the following year."

Stalk destruction will prove extremely important in areas of Texas where diapause boll weevil control programs are conducted and in the areas where a short crop is anticipated, he said. Such an area can be found in San Patricio and Nueces counties where Celia recently dealt extensive damage to the cotton crop, he added.

"Where harvest is not anticipated, growers are encouraged to shred stalks and plow them under to a depth of at least six inches as soon as possible," Thomas said. "In other areas of the state, growers should

Texas Corn Not Affected By New Blight Disease

Southern Corn Leaf Blight, the fungus disease playing havoc with corn crops in some states, reached Texas just a little too late.

The fungus disease is reported to be a serious problem in Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia and Florida, however, its occurrence in Texas was too late in the season to cause substantial yield losses, Dr. C. Wendell Horne, Extension plant pathologist, said.

"The infection of Southern Corn Leaf Blight that hit most of the major corn-producing areas of the U.S. is caused by a suspected new race of the fungus parasite, Helminthosporium maydis," he said.

"Greatest yield losses have been observed when severe infection occurred at the beginning of the silk and tassel stage; however, Texas corn was past this stage before serious infestation problems began."

Many corn growers are probably asking themselves if they should forget about raising corn next year and grow another crop.

"It would be somewhat shortsighted to not plant corn because the disease might occur again next year," Dr. Horne said. "Three factors must be present before there can be another disease occurrence."

"There must be a susceptible host, and we know that this is present because of this year's disease problem."

"The pathogen, or infecting agent, must be present in suffi-

Bryan Firm Complies With P&S Act

Bryan Livestock Commission Company, Inc., a posted stockyard at Bryan, has been ordered to stop violating bonding requirements under the Packers and Stockyards Act, the U. S. Department of Agriculture said today.

The firm, its officers, directors, agents and employees were ordered to cease and desist from engaging in business in any capacity for which bonding is required under the Act without filing an acceptable bond or its equivalent.

The firm has obtained bond coverage and is now in compliance with the bonding requirements.

The cease and desist order - like a permanent injunction - was issued to insure future compliance with the P&S Act.

P&SA requires market agencies to provide bonds as a measure of financial protection to sellers.

Bryan Livestock Commission Company, Inc., consented to the order when it answered the administrative complaint issued by USDA's Packers and Stockyards Administration. It waived oral hearing.

cient quantities to cause infection, and this depends on many factors, which just happened to all be favorable this year.

"And, the weather conditions must be conducive to this disease; in other words, favorable moisture."

The disease may occur again next year or it may be several years before the disease again occurs, he said. It depends on all conditions being present and favorable at one time, Dr. Horne said.

He added that seed corn producers, very concerned about the disease, are making every effort possible to make resistant hybrids available in case this disease continues to be a problem.

VOTE For --- OUR CHILDREN Vote FOR Milano-Cameron School Consolidation

When school consolidation is mentioned, the alarm "community destruction" sounds.

Where were these cries, Milano Schools, when smaller community schools were consolidated into Milano? It was considered progress, and students benefitted immeasurably and history proved the idea of consolidation correct.

To starve young minds on a weak diet of sub-standard education - in this era of technology - for community political interests is tragic.

Small communities were established in "horse and buggy" days to simplify transportation. Technology, a by-product of good education, changed this. The one-room school, which served so well, was replaced by larger schools a few miles down the road.

The wheel of time has turned again, Milano. Progress has said once again modern needs require more than can be properly given in a smaller school.

Milano school patrons, the time has come for us to think of our children instead of arbitrary lines of community boundaries. These lines exist mostly in our minds. These lines restrict our children's progress in school.

also was an old dry hole which Teton and Leonard, Austin operators, drilled to 2,815 feet and abandoned. Both the Crump and the Miller wildcats were drilled to around 3,300 feet by Keese & Thomas, hitting pay in the Navarro. A new drilling technique was used in both wells. Seven and one-half inch pipe was used in both holes instead of the usual 4 1/2 inch pipe for shallow tests. And they were treated with 500 gallons of acid prior to being sand-fraced. Reportedly the two wells produce a total of around 155 barrels per day flowing and on pump. Potential has not yet been reported if it has been run.

The new wildcat scheduled for the Milbur Field area will be drilled by Stanley H. Rosenthal, a Bay City operator. It will be his No. 1 R. D. Busch, located on a 193 acre lease in David Houston Survey. Reportedly it will be a Navarro try permitted to around 3,500 feet.

Most of the production in the Milbur Field, however, is from the basal Wilcox which lies above the Navarro in that area. Rosenthal is a new operator in the field.

The five or six new wildcats rumored being planned for the Cherokee Navarro Field area are due to be scheduled by Byron Rose, the Houston operator who opened the field last October when he brought in his No. 1 and No. 2 Ray Woods as 85 and 101 barrel per day producers.

Some of the wildcats reportedly will be offsets to wells drilled by other operators in the Cherokee Navarro field.

Sheriff Reports Weekend DWI's, Breakins

The Labor Day weekend was just that for county law enforcement officers as they reported arrests for driving while intoxicated, fighting, and thefts.

County Sheriff Carl Black said seven arrests had been made for DWI over the three-day weekend. Black also reported the arrests of three Temple men Sunday night in connection with a fight at Burlington Hall in Burlington.

Walkers Store in Milano was apparently broken into Sunday night and $60 cash was reported stolen, the Sheriff said.

Will Ondrej, Cameron blacksmith, reported the theft of his wristwatch and

Rose has done no drilling in recent months and so far as known has scheduled no new wildcats.

a number of new wrenches from his shop on West Batte St. Sheriff Black said the thief or thieves were barefooted and apparently entered the shop through the roof.

Old Navigation Device Gets New Application

AUSTIN

A navigation device used by ancient mariners has found a bizarre new use in Texas.

Somewhere in the depths of Medina Lake near San Antonio swims a 13-pound yellow catfish with an electronic transmitter in his abdominal cavity, and somewhere on the surface of the lake is a boat manned by Texas Parks and Wildlife Department fisheries specialists.

The fish's movements are being plotted with a sextant, a device which fixes locations by measuring angles between known points.

The Department's inland fisheries biologists don't ordinarily use the sextant in their daily activities, although their counterparts in the coastal fisheries sometimes use them.

The biologists were given an instruction course in sextant use by members of the San Antonio Power Squadron, which often cooperates with the Department's Water Safety Services but seldom works with fisheries specialists.

The sextant course was prompted by the need to record exact locations of the test fish on a lake which has few natural landmarks. The yellow catfish is one of the more desirable game species in the state, and biologists seek to learn more about its migratory movements.

The migratory study is the final phase of a two-year yellow catfish study by fisheries biologists Kirby W. Gholson and Wilfred J. Dean Jr.

The transmitter was inserted in the test fish's belly through an incision. After healing, the fish was released into the lake.

The two-man boat crews determined the transistORIZED fish's position with electronic equipment and then used the sextant to find the exact location by aiming at painted posts they had placed on the shoreline.

The actual plotting was done later on a large map, using the locations pinpointed by sextant.

Lane T. Sealy, commander of the squadron, told the Department in a letter that the squadron enjoyed teaching the course and asked that they be called upon again "if your sextant technique gets a little rusty."

Gatesville Edges Past Yoe Friday

A well coached Gatesville team led by quarterback Steve Brazilei defeated Cameron 6-0 in a controlled scrimmage here Friday night.

Brazilei scored the only touchdown of the night on a 57-yard romp early in their first offensive series. The play began as an option and the lanky quarterback sped around right end and outran the Cameron defenders to the goal.

The solid defense of the Hornets repeatedly thwarted the Yoemen drives forcing numerous fumbles and interceptions.

The Fighting Yoemen passing attack never seemed to get started as several passes ended up in the arms of Hornet defenders.

Richard Cummings stepped in for Cameron's second offensive series and continually led them deep into Hornet territory but costly errors stalled each scoring opportunity. During one drive, Cummings glided around right end and raced 55 yards for Cameron's longest gain of the night.

The hard running of Manuel Thomas, Ernie DeLa Rosa, Sam Knight, and Edward Whitley continually kept the Yoemen offense moving but the big play that breaks open a close defensive battle never came.

The tough Yoe defense led by Sam Knight and the "Balley Boys" pulled themselves together after early lapses and snuffed out further Gatesville scoring.

From early indications, the Fighting Yoemen are molding into a fine unit both offensively and defensively. They have played two fine AAA teams virtually to a standstill in the past two weeks, and meet another AAA team, Taylor, of the same caliber this Friday night here to open the 1970 season. With a little extra work, the Fighting Yoemen should field a team that the people of Cameron can be proud of.

OUTDOORS IN TEXAS BY VERN SANFORD

That famous Little Dutch Boy with the big finger, who plugged the hole in the dike in Holland, would have found himself hopelessly helpless in Texas today.

At least that's so in one area of the State. That is unless he had a vulcanizing kit!

What do we mean by all this? Well, we're referring to Bay City, Texas . . . southwest of Houston . . . and to its new DAM.

There the Lower Colorado River Authority has installed a RUBBER dam on the Colorado River. Yes, we mean RUBBER!

It's a clever trick . . . and it works! Not only does it hold back valuable water but it preserves it for later use, right where it's badly needed for agricultural purposes. This is the rice growing country of Texas and one of the state's most valuable industries.

No crop takes more water than rice. And water doesn't always fall when or where it's needed.

Due to LCRA's foresightedness and willingness to gamble, the rice boys are in business in a big way. In fact this year they may get in a third crop, thanks to the little rubber dam.

You've never heard of a rubber dam? Well, brother, you're not alone. Most people haven't.

But it's there and it's holding back Colorado River water that otherwise would have poured freely into the Gulf of Mexico—some 12 miles downstream.

Where is the dam located? It's just a few miles from downtown Bay City and right alongside the Country Club golf course.

It's an impressive sight, really, considering the fact that it is one of the country's first and definitely the largest in the United States.

To begin at the beginning, first the construction crew builds a 30-foot wide reinforced steel and concrete base all the way across the river bed. This after diverting the water around that area, of course. This supporting base rests on pilings driven some 40 feet below the river bed. It is on this concrete base that the rubber dam is mounted. It's anchored to the slab with stainless steel anchor bolts cast integrally with the concrete.

Prime feature of the dam is a huge, sausage shaped rubber tube 227 feet long and 13 feet in diameter . . . sealed at both ends. This huge rubber tube has a skin thickness of a quarter of an inch. It's total weight is 18,000 pounds.

Each end of the tube is securely bolted to a concrete abutment. One end is connected with a water system and an air compression plant.

Secret of holding the inflatable dam in a firm position is in partial inflation of the mammoth rubber tube with WATER. This serves as a base, for a solid footing . . . with the water that's in the tube holding back the water that's in the river.

AIR then is pumped into the tube to complete the expansion of the rubber dam and raise its height to whatever level they wish to maintain the water. Limit, of course, is roughly 13 feet . . . the diameter of the tube. Actually it's less since the height of the water in the tube flattens it out a bit at the bottom . . . and the weight of the onrushing water causes the "dam" to lean a little towards the downstream side. Actual shape of the dam in use is more like a teardrop on its side.

In viewing the installation we observed that the water depth gauge showed 32 feet. Water was within three feet of the top of the dam. So the concrete foundation evidently is several feet in height.

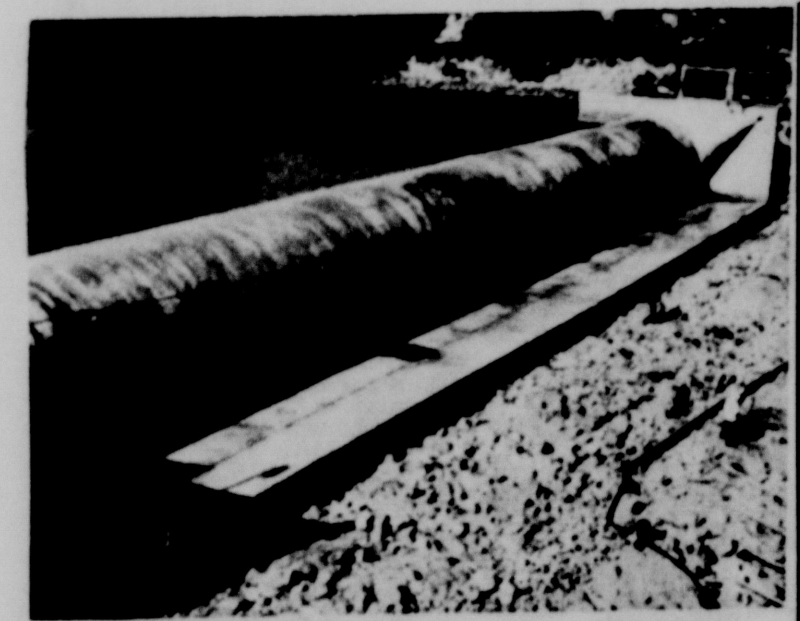

Backing up that much water, for even a very few miles, can mean much to the rice farmers. Also, equally as much to the upstream areas where the river's water level is steadily falling at the moment, and has been for several months.

So, the Little Rubber dam (technically named Fabridam by its maker, the Firestone Tire and Rubber Company) already has proved its worth.

And when the need for the water has ended, or floods come (what's that?), valves can be opened and both the air and the water drawn from within the mammoth tube. Then the little rubber dam settles down on its concrete base and the rushing waters of the Colorado flow over it . . . and on into the Gulf of Mexico.

HOPE AFTER THE HOLOCAUST. These Peruvian children, sitting in the rubble created by the June earthquake which devastated their country and killed 50,000 people, will share in the many years of rebuilding ahead. CROP, the Community Hunger Appeal of Church World Service, has provided shipments of food and high protein supplements in the weeks since the disaster.

Smith Among FB Group On South American Tour

John A. Smith of Cameron was among a group of Texas Farm Bureau members that departed last week on a 16 day tour of six South American countries to study agriculture and marketing conditions there.

The group left Houston by jet September 3 on the trip, called the Texas Farm Bureau market builder tour. They transferred to a Braniff jet in Miami, and arrived at their first stop, Panama City, Panama, that same day.

From there they went to Brazil for a four day stay, first at Brasilia, the national capitol, then to Rio de Janeiro, and a side trip to Petropolis, a mountain resort.

The group's itinerary, after departure from Rio on September 9, will include Montevideo, Uruguay, for three days; Buenos Aires and other cities in Argentina for three days, then a jet flight across the Andes to Santiago, Chile, for two days in that city and in Vina Del Mar and Valparaiso, and a morning flight to Lima, Peru, for two days in that country.

From Lima the group will fly back to Houston by way of Miami on September 19.

Along with sightseeing in the cities on the tour, the group of Farm Bureau members will visit sites of agriculture interest, especially ranches in Uruguay and Argentina, both cattle producing countries, and a big dairy farm and cotton plantations in Peru.

Smith, who has a large scale farming operation in east Milam, several months ago was named Director of the Farm Bureau's District 8, which includes Milam County.

Baylor To Present 'Sr George'

"The Killing of Sister George," a modern play dealing with the exploitation of persons by others, will open Sept. 11 at Baylor University Theater. The play will continue Sept. 12 and 14 through 19. All performances will be at 8 p.m. in the theater's Weston Studio.

Bill G. Cook, director of Baylor Theater, is the director of the play.

The play concerns a radio personality in London who is being "killed" on the air because of a decline in popularity. She is a domineering, brash and offensive-type character, especially in the relationship with her young girlfriend. She expresses love only when it may profit her, and seldom is it sincere. Underlying the plot is the message of disturbed human relations resulting in situations of personal exploitation.

Season and individual performance tickets are available by writing Baylor Theater, Box Office, Baylor University, Waco, Texas 76703 or by calling 755-1861.

Season tickets are $8.50 for the four major productions, two graduate thesis productions and a theater reading. Individual major production tickets are $2 each.

Spun Glass Found In Bird Nest

Pollution is not just the dumping of chemical waste into streams or the poisoning of the atmosphere with exhaust fumes. In small but important ways, man is polluting the environment in ways he can't even imagine.

Texas Parks and Wildlife Department biologist Dan Lay of Nacogdoches recently found an empty nest built by a crested flycatcher. The well-constructed nest was nestled in an old woodpecker hole.

On close inspection, Lay found the nest lined with several tufts of spun glass of the type used for house insulation.

The nesting bird apparently had picked up the prickly material from a trash dump. Lay doubts that the delicate newborn birds could have survived the irritating presence of the glass.

No one knows how many other incidents such as this have hindered reproduction of birds and other living creatures.

Pinto, Ford Division's frisky new little car, kicks up its heels with two engines, a 1600-cc. base powerplant and a 2000-cc. option. With "Pintopower" to spare, it excels at turnpike speeds and in tight passing situations. Small and light, Pinto gallops through the heaviest traffic and can wiggle into the tightest parking place. Ford dealers will introduce the '71 Pinto on September 11.

Absentee Ballot Requests Have October 30 Deadline

Any qualified Texas voter eligible to cast an absentee ballot by mail may now make application to his county clerk for an absentee ballot for the November 3 general election.

In order to vote absentee by mail in this election, a voter must: (1) be unable to appear Nov. 3 at the polling place because of sickness or physical disability; or (2) expect to be absent from his county of residence on Nov. 3 and during the county clerk's office hours throughout the period Oct. 14 - Oct. 30.

Details as to absentee voting procedure may be obtained from a voter's county clerk. Generally, these provisions apply:

A voter applying for an absentee ballot by reason of sickness or physical disability must mail his application to the county clerk. It should be accompanied by the voter's registration certificate, and by a certificate of a duly licensed physician, chiropractor or accredited Christian Science practitioner certifying to the voter's illness or physical disability.

A voter desiring to vote absentee by reason of absence from the county may either deliver or mail his application for absentee ballot to the county clerk. In the application, the voter must state that he expects to be absent from the county on election day and during the clerk's regular office hours for the entire period of personal appearance absentee voting (Oct. 14 - Oct. 30). The absentee ballot then must be mailed to the voter at an address outside his county of residence. Also, the envelope in which the voter returns the ballot must be postmarked from a point outside his county of residence.

Voter registration in Texas this year hit an all-time high of 4,150,645. On Nov. 3, voters will express their preference in state, district and local races, as well as on seven proposed state constitutional amendments.

ADVANCED NAVIGATOR TO UNJAM AIRPORTS

Arlington, Va. — (HK) — The most sophisticated air navigation system developed to date will be ready to go to work unjamming the world's massive air traffic

The precise navigational accuracy and high reliability of the new hybrid Loran-C/D (HYLO) navigator are expected to contribute significantly to the solution of major air traffic problems. The new nine-pound airborne navigator should permit commercial airliners to get off the runways and into the air at a more rapid frequency, thereby relieving a major cause of the ever-increasing traffic congestion both on the ground and in the world's air corridors. It is being built by International Engineering Co., Arlington, Va., a division of A-T-O Inc.

Peak Traffic Conditions

The result of imprecise measuring techniques used until now has been "that the 550 commercial aircraft that occupy the North Atlantic air corridor during peak traffic conditions are required to maintain a physical separation of 1,000 feet vertically, 50 miles to either side and 300 miles along the flight path," according to Elmer M. Lipsey, president of International Engineering who invented the basic Loran-C/D concept in 1963. "Consequently, aircraft between the U.S. and Europe are held for clearance until the 'track' is clear, resulting in lengthy delays at the world's most popular airports."

The effort to reduce minimum safe separation requirements has been under study by the Federal Aviation Administration and ICAO. This objective has been to create an "accordion effect," the compression of air traffic filling these corridors, thereby reducing ground delays at originating and terminal airports.

Although the basic Loran-C/D HYLO concept was invented in 1963, it was not until recently that small electronic circuits called LSI circuits, for large-scale integration, had advanced far enough to allow economical production of hardware to implement the highly accurate, advanced navigation technique that can permit closer safe spacing of aircraft in flight.

Meet Ford's new Pinto. The little carefree car.

If you have the questions, Pinto has the answers.

Q. What do you mean, "carefree"?

A. Pinto's designed to free you from car cares, big and little. Cares about high prices and big gas bills. Cares about parking. Cares about service and reliability. Power and stability. Quiet and roominess.

Q. You say Pinto is little. How little?

A. Pinto is only 3 inches longer than a VW. But its turning circle is actually a little less, so Pinto can slip easily into tight parking spaces.

Q. And inside?

A. Pinto gives you more interior roominess overall than Volkswagen. And getting in and out is easier because Pinto's doors are a good half-foot wider.

Q. What about price?

A. Pinto is priced like the little economy imports, too.

Q. What about power?

A. Pinto delivers 75 horsepower and averages over 25 miles per gallon in simulated city/suburban driving. The engine is front-mounted and exceptionally quiet for a car in this class. Pinto is the only American economy car equipped with a 4-speed, fully synchronized transmission at no extra cost.

Q. What else is standard equipment?

A. High Back bucket seats. Direct-Aire ventilation with upper-level fresh air outlets. Heater/defroster with 3-speed fan. Two-speed electric windshield wipers. Electric windshield washers. Your choice of 15 exterior colors. And more.

Q. How about optional extras?

A. Pinto offers a 100-hp engine and 3-speed automatic transmission. Front disc brakes. Even built-in air conditioning. Tinted glass. Vinyl roof. "Flipper" rear quarter windows. Fold-down rear seat. Bumper guards and side molding with vinyl inserts to protect the paint. More than most imports offer—at prices economy-car buyers can afford.

Q. Reliability?

A. Pinto's engine has already logged 50 million owner-driven miles. And the strength of some of Pinto's parts makes ordinary little economy cars look puny by comparison. Parts like the starter motor, ball joints, rear wheel bearings are heavy duty. Craftsmanship? Pinto is the only American car with hand-matched transmission gears.

Q. What's Pinto like out on the road?

A. Pinto has a wider stance than any economy import, for better stability in turns and gusty crosswinds. For more road feel, and more precise handling, Pinto has rack & pinion steering—like Porsche and Jaguar—something you won't find on any other American car.

Q. Tell me about service.

A. Pinto is so simple you can do much of the maintenance yourself, if you like. The Owner's Manual shows you how. And Pinto's free Do-It-Yourself Key helps you perform minor service functions.

Q. Suppose I don't service Pinto myself?

A. You still save when your Ford Dealer does it. For example, Pinto needs an oil change half as often as the leading import. And a chassis lube only one-sixth as often.

Q. Sounds great—where can I test-drive Pinto?

A. Your nearest Ford Dealer. And if you have any more questions, he can answer them.

Performances Set For Czech Beseda Dancers

Word of the colorful dancing of the Cameron Folk Fete Czech Beseda Dancers has spread across the state and brought invitations to perform in three events this fall.

The dancers, sponsored by Mrs. Frank Mikulec, include both adults and children. Their costumes, like the intricate folk dances they perform, are authentic Czech design.

The group, along with the Cameron Folk Fete German Dancers, will perform at 8:30 p.m. Sunday, September 13, at the annual St. Cyril and Methodius Picnic in Marak. The Czech dancers will be joined by one circle from the SPJST Lodge 47 at Seaton.

Two other performances are scheduled for the Czech Beseda Dancers in October.

They will perform at an October 10 evening appearance at the 10th annual Coppini Art Exhibit and 4th annual Texas-wide Craft Show in Salado to spotlight the annual arts and crafts Show sponsored by the Museum of History.

Miss Juliana Crowden is chairman of this event at Salado and honorary chairmen are Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson and Mrs. Liz

Carpenter. It is a working show which offers the public an opportunity to watch master craftsmen produce their work.

On October 18 the dancers will be in Dallas for a guest appearance on the Czech Day Program at the State Fair of Texas.

John G. Bubak, chairman of the American Czech Festival Society extended the invitation to the 40 member folk dance group to help celebrate the 30th anniversary of Czech Day at the State Fair.

Teen Dance Friday Night

There will be a dance at the Katakomb Teen Club following the Taylor - Cameron football game Friday night. Music will be by a group called "Stone."

The dance will be from 10:30 p.m. until 12:30 a.m. Admission will be $1 for singles and $1.50 for couples. Everyone is invited.

ONE-PATTERN EFFECT—You don't have to tiptoe through these tulips—they're ever-blooming in this room planned for teen-age sisters. Cotton splashed with Siamese pink tulips and brilliant green leaves is teamed up with matching wallpaper for a room-widening effect. The fabric is laminated to fashionable window shades and made into matching curtains and fitted bed coverlets for a fresh, crisp look.

Convert Coffee Maker To Hot Punch Brewer

The standard coffeemaker has many more uses than we once suspected because we keep trying new things. As we keep watching for new recipe ideas we see some delightful looking hot punches appearing and here is one to pass on to your friends during the holidays. It may be a good idea to have copies along side the coffeemaker because your recipe collector friends will be sure to want one.

Place 1/2 cup firmly-packed brown sugar, 4 whole cloves, 4 whole allspice, 2 cinnamon sticks broken into 1-inch pieces into the basket. Put two quarts of apple cider into coffee pot and allow to go through perk cycle. When ready to serve, remove basket and float one lemon thinly sliced on top of hot mulled cider.

Your coffeemaker can also be used for hot malted milks, instant coffees, consommés and cocoa. Of course, it is especially handy for tasty, traditional coffees and to keep your pot sparkling clean and coffee fresh tasting here are tips on the use and care of the coffeemaker.

Clean valves, tubes, spouts, baskets, etc. with stiff brush after each use. Wash filters in clear water. Give filter a weekly boil in clear water. Use brush to reach inaccessible parts. Scour lightly with a soap-filled pad as needed.

For aluminum pots, a solution of one tablespoon cream of tartar to two cups of water will keep the coffeemaker sweet and clean.

For pots of stainless steel, ceramic or glass a solution in the proportion of one and one-half tablespoons baking soda to six cups of water should be used.

Fill the pot and proceed as for making coffee. Wash with soapy water, rinse and dry. If a commercial cleaner is used, follow instructions exactly.

For seldom used coffeemakers, clean thoroughly before and after each use to eliminate metallic taste.

BOOKS for CHILDREN

The paleface is again in conflict with the redskin. And again the conflict revolves around the white man's reluctance to stand by his treaties and the red man's difficulties with the white man's civilization.

For nearly a century those of us east of the frontier were grossly misinformed on the Indians' customs, dress, and behavior. In recent years however, movies, television, and books have been more accurate and the wagons have almost ceased their dizzy circling. The Indian is now presented in relationship to his own environment and background.

Young people always seem partial to books about Indians, and they are quick to recognize authenticity (or lack of it). If your local long range weather forecast hints at rain and you expect a day or more when your Indians are going to be confined to the homestead, go now to the library and bring back some books about our red brothers. A few suggestions:

Postage by Marion E. Gridlev. Illustrated. (Ages 8 to 10). More than a biography of the Ottawa chief, the book presents with strength and clarity the struggle of the Indians to retain their own way of life and their lands.

Living in Navajoland by Flora Hood. Illustrated. (Ages 8 to 10). Though fiction, this book tells of life among the Navajo today as Hosten and his sister Dezhah attend a healing chant and travel to the Inter-Tribal gathering at Gallup, New Mexico.

CHEVY'S NEW LITTLE CAR IS OPEN FOR BUSINESS.

We call it Vega.
We also call it "the little car that does everything well."
Because it does.

Everything? Everything.

Vega moves well, stops well, steers well, rides well, handles well, responds well, passes well, travels well, parks well, wears well, and is priced well under what you'd expect to pay for such a talented little car.

In our highway tests, Vega has been getting gas mileage in the neighborhood of the little imports, which isn't a bad neighborhood.

Yet unlike your average little car, ours steps right out when you step on the gas.

The engine is a specially designed overhead cam four with a lightweight aluminum alloy block. It turns slowly and quietly at turnpike speeds, with power to spare.

Disc brakes are standard in the front. So are bucket seats, except on the truck.

How we doing so far?

Numbers speak louder than words.

The wheelbase is 97 inches.

Total length is just under 170 inches, or nearly four feet shorter than a full-size Chevrolet.

Height of the coupe is just 50 inches, nine inches lower than the leading import.

Width: a nice stable 5 1/2 feet.

Weight: 2,190 lbs. for the sedan. Engine displacement: 140 cubic inches.

Fuel economy: about 25 mpg, with the standard engine and transmission, in our highway tests.

Horsepower: 90. You can order 110. (80 and 93 hp, SAE Net.)

Seating capacity: 4 adults. What it all adds up to is a lot of little car.

Three cars and a truck.

Vega turned out so well that we couldn't turn out just one.

So we're turning out four: the sporty little hatchback coupe shown open and closed in the foreground below; the sedan, on the right; the Kamback wagon, on the left; and the little panel truck, in the rear.

Oh, and a special GT version of the coupe and wagon which we'll show you later on.

September 10th is Opening Day.

All 6,300 Chevrolet dealers are handling Vega, so you shouldn't have to go very far to see and drive one.

Chevy's new little car is open for business. Look into it.

MENTAL HEALTH MATTERS

Bertram S. Brown, M. D., Director
National Institute of Mental Health

Changing Needs

The fact that the needs for mental health treatment and services are changing and growing is apparent in every community in the United States.

One example is the phenomenon of drug abuse. Any psychiatrist who does not think that treatment of drug abusers and prevention of the misuse of drugs is not his concern is indulging in wishful thinking.

Drug abuse is no longer limited to the ghettos or to young people. It has spread through every social and economic group from the slums to the suburbs and to every age group, including kindergarten-age glue sniffers.

At the National Institute of Mental Health—as at every State and local mental health agency—requests for help come in by the hundreds, day after day, from parents of drug abusers and from abusers themselves.

"Where can I go for help?" is the basic question.

There is the promise of future help, if Federal preferential support for drug abuse service programs is included among community mental health programs, as has been proposed.

But it does seem that every psychiatrist, especially, already has the obligation, as he certainly must already have the opportunity, to seek information and enable himself to counsel and treat the victims of drug abuse.

It has been fashionable to equate drug abuse with the youth drug culture and leave treatment to a few "hippie psychiatrists."

But drug misuse has outgrown yesterday's "drug culture." Its epidemic proportions place a responsibility on all health professional workers.

Psychiatry and other health professions should take the lead in treating the underlying causes of drug abuse and in joining with other community leaders in providing alternatives for "drug highs" to the many thousands who will not face life as they see it.

Ours is a technological society geared for chemical escape from reality. But there are signs that psychiatry and the other medical and health professions are recognizing this, gearing themselves to cope with it, and moving toward vigorous and essential efforts to meet the changing needs of the times represented in the mental and emotional disorders that leave no single one of us untouched today.

In 1960, Canada produced 373 million pounds of the slightly more than 500 million pounds consumed in the free world, and in 1969, 447 million pounds of a free world total of 820 million pounds consumption.

When you think life is tough, that what you need is a vacation away from home, a long trip to leave your troubles behind.

Think of those people on some Jordanian desert awaiting an uncertain fate aboard a commandeered 707.

111-111-111

TEXAS FOOTBALL, an annual preview of Texas college and high school football, says Cameron hopes to move up in 20-AA after a 7-3, third-place season behind the Eagles and Round Rock last fall.

Taylor Ducks come to town Friday night to see how well the Yoemen follow through with the return of 12 lettermen, six on offense and six on defense. The traditional test is the opener for both teams and is one of the major home-game attractions in the Yoe season.

Tuesday night, Hal Stanislaw and his staff were discussing starting assignments after the afternoon's workouts. The 30-man varsity may have some surprises for the 1970 Yoe fan.

Stanislaw was apparently evaluating all the practice sessions to see who would get the starting nods, which is no surprise. It is possible some of the young talent off the freshman bench last year or new players out for the first time may draw assignments, offense and defense.

Football has changed so much in the past generation that it takes a minimum of 25 to keep better players at special offense and defense positions. Fewer players "go both ways" because it is better to run two boys on offense and defense at the same position. Most teams do, if they have depth.

It would be no surprise to see some new talent in there early in the non-district season as Stanislaw and his coaches evaluate player potential for individual performance as they have been evaluating for squad depth in practice sessions and scrimmages.

111-111-111

This is not the largest Yoe squad in recent years, but at least seven on the roster clear 175 pounds or more. It is one of the more experienced clubs considering the 12 returning veterans. It is a lot easier to build a defensive and offensive squad with a half-dozen each to start with.

It is difficult to make a prediction on the opener between Taylor and the Yoemen. But the homefield is an advantage and a veteran squad, minus one player Norman Trubee out with the measles, should turn the trick Yoeward.

Milam Fields Show New Drilling Activity

By Lloyd Albertson

Oil drilling activity in the south Milam County area is continuing at a steady pace, with the Cherokee Navarro Field near Milam gaining two more wells, two new oilers brought in in the Milbur Field, and a new wildcat also scheduled for that field.

Also, according to oil patch rumor, five or six new wildcats are due to be scheduled in the Cherokee Navarro Field area almost immediately.

The two new wells in the Cherokee Navarro Field are the Fred L. Gaines No. 1 and No. 2 Lillian Beard. Location is on a 100 acre lease in the James Welch Survey.

Gaines scheduled his No. 1 Lillian Beard in mid-July; earlier it had been reported that three Houston oilmen, R. E. Zimmerman, Robert E. Fendley and James B. Whitley, would drill the wildcats, but Gaines is listed as operator.

Potential figures have not yet been released on the two wells, which produce from the Navarro. The Lillian Beard lease is near the No. 1 Wallace and Coleman Beard, which a Farmington, New Mexico, operator, David Thomas, brought in as a 61.25 barrel per day producer early this year.

The two new wells in the Milbur Field were drilled by Keesee and Thomas, a pair of Farmington operators, and are located across the Milam line in Burleson County. Both were old dry holes drilled and abandoned by other companies.

The Taylor Ducks Friday night will renew opening game rivalry with the host Yoemen, a team the Ducks whipped in the 1969 opener in Taylor, 25-7. Kickoff for the 1970 Yoe opener is 8 p.m. at Yoe Field.

Taylor coach Cliff Vandeventer brings a big, fast club to Yoeman turf Friday night, Yoe coach Hal Stanislaw says.

And the Yoe head coach says he will be playing quite a number of Yoemen mixed with 12 veterans to work for balance and team strength.

Familiar names like Robert Brashers at quarterback and Emanuel Thomas at left half are in the Yoe lineup, joined by Earnie DeLa Rosa, a freshman right half, and fullback Ed Whitley, new names on the starting roster. DeLa Rosa is starting at right half since Jerry Richardson, a senior safety and half-back, has an injured shoulder, but who will see action at safety.

Gone are John Steamer and James Laury, who gave Cameron a steady inside and outside threat in a 7-3 season last year.

SIZE UP FRONT

But Stanislaw has size in the offensive lineup with tackles David Fritz

at 213 and Jack Raymond at 200 and right guard Jesse Reyes at 175. DeLa Rosa is a 182-pound freshman who joins defensive tackle Joe Lewis and senior Mark Dodson in training for field goals and kickoffs.

Reyes, Richard Cummings and Ken McLerran, punter for two years, are working on Yoe punting chores.

Taylor has 13 boys of a 31-man squad at 175 pounds or better. It is the largest club Taylor has fielded in years, Stanislaw says.

He expects Herbert Reese and George Faltesak, Taylor ends, and quarterback Tim Kennedy to give Cameron defense problems. Kennedy can run or throw, Stanislaw says, and Taylor backs Valery Jackson, Lee Crowell and James Harrison widen the Yoemen's defense problem.

As if to anticipate the passing threat Taylor poses, Stanislaw now calls his defensive ends cornerbacks, who will be Jim Bailey and McLerran, backed up by Lester Hayes and Robert Kretschmar.

NEW ROLES

Stanislaw says "people are passing so much the defensive role of the end has changed."

Cameron team injuries or sickness includes the Richardson shoulder injury and Norman Trubee, two-year letterman, sidelined with measles.

A capacity crowd is anticipated to see the renewal of the long-standing Duck-Yoeman rivalry. Taylor has held the edge in the last three meetings, Stanislaw says, because they seem to reach mid-season form early.

The Ducks won scrimmages over A&M Consolidated and Austin Crockett, a 4A school, prior to the Yoe opener. Probable starting lineups are:

YOEMEN (Offense)	TAYLOR
Split End Carroll Michalka	Herbert Reese
LT Jack Raymond	John McDonald
LG Prentis McGoldrick	Charles Fuller
C Darrell Schneider	Mark Winkelman
RG Jesse Reyes	Ken Schaefer
RT David Fritz	Cliff Hamons
RE Mike Zajicek	George Faltesak
QB Robert Brashers	Tim Kennedy
LH Emanuel Thomas	James Harrison
RH Ernie DeLa Rosa	Valery Jackson
FB Ed Whitley	Lee Crowell

and Randy Tumlinson; guards Dale Schi-gut and Ed Whitley; linebackers John Bailey and Sam Knight; halfbacks Richard Cummings and Robert Brashers; safety Jerry Richardson or Joe Vaculin.

ELEMENTARY TUTOR - Jerry Secrest in his 'mini' classroom at Ada Henderson School has been employed by Cameron Schools as a "roving" tutor for grades 1 through 5. Secrest, a graduate of Stephen F. Austin College, will provide individual tutoring in math and science. A native of Kilgore, he previously taught at Ft. Arthur and Vidor and at an Army school in Japan. Last year he was a graduate student at Indiana University. Special tutoring is also available in reading and language arts through the school's remedial aid program.

Texas Independence...

Was It Signed In Milam Co.?

A memorial plaque at Washington on the Brazos marks the spot claimed as the place where the Texas Declaration of Independence was signed, but local legend at Block House Springs (near Cross Roads in Milam County) says the memorial stone might be mis-placed.

James Patzke, whose family home is at Block House Springs, has been told since childhood that Texas Independence was declared on the banks of the Brazos River in Milam County.

As the story was related to him, J. G. Hilge, an early Milam County resident, was bringing the word of James Buchanan's election in 1857 when he came upon F. H. Pieper who was topping an Oak tree at Block House Springs. Hilge asked what he was doing and Pieper replied: "I'm topping the tree to mark this place for our grandchildren where the Texas Declaration of Independence from Mexico was signed in 1836."

And so the story has been continued by word of mouth and the topped oak tree is known to all who live in the area.

Patzke credits W. C. Wiese, another early resident, with keeping the legend alive. Wiese fought in the Battle of Waterloo in 1815 with Blucher's Prussian Army before migrating to the United States and eventually to Block House Springs, then known as part of the Sterling C. Robertson grant. He was an officer under General Sam Houston facing the armies of Santa Anna, and as memento Houston gave him an anvil which has been treasured by his descendants.

Wiese was a blacksmith by trade and a leader in the Block House community. During his residence the community had a saloon, church and the Block House which originally was a fort built for the protection of the settlers against Indians. When meetings of the area residents were felt necessary, Wiese would call an assembly with his ram's horn. Patzke said some people dispute that there was an actual church at the river bank community, but it was the place where worshipers gathered annually for two-week camp meetings.

Others who told the story of the Declaration of Independence signing were August Block who was born in 1822 and died in 1899 and J. B. Burkholter 1843 - 1909. All are buried at String Prairie Cemetery except Hilge who had a family cemetery at his home.

Patzke said the story has logic because of the setting of Blockhouse Springs in a direct line between Crockett and

San Antonio. He said it was also the southern-most location where the Brazos River could be crossed by ford.

It could be that the Declaration of Independence marker is mis-placed, or it is possible that Blockhouse Springs was one of several places where independence was declared. Texas history notes that several local assemblies declared Texas an independent state in late 1835 and early 1836.

NATURAL MARKER - this topped tree marks the spot where the late F. H. Pieper said Texas Declaration of Independence from Mexico was asserted. The tree is on property now owned by Pete Gibson in the old Blockhouse Springs community of Milam County.

Consolidation Sought For School Districts

Voters in the Milam and Cameron school districts will decide Saturday if the two districts will consolidate.

Polls will open at 8 a.m. at the voting places -- the high school office at Milam and the high school gym at Cameron, and will close at 7 p.m.

Voting is expected to be fairly heavy on the controversial proposal, sought by petitions from both districts.

The petitions were presented to Milam County Judge O. B. Harden in August, requesting County Commissioners' Court to call a consolidation election.

The petition from Cameron had 34 signatures. The one from Milam originally had 49 signatures, however, two signers later asked that their names be removed from the petition. State law requires 20 signatures on petitions from each district.

The majority of signers on the Milam petition live in outlying areas of the district.

Some of the issues in the election are:

Milam residents have expressed fears about losing their schools. Cameron school officials pointed out that, if the districts consolidate, grades 1 through 8 would be schooled in Milam, with high school students attending in Cameron. No changes would be made this year.

Another issue is the tax structure. Milam trustees increased valuation from 20 to 45 percent of market value this year; Cameron trustees increased valuation from 25 to 50 percent.

Consolidation would result in a combined enrollment of about 2,000 students. Cameron registered 1,652 students on opening day and Milam reported anticipated enrollment of 320.

The two school budgets, if combined, would total $1,191,529, using this year's budget figures. Consolidation of the two districts would result in the new district receiving about $314,270 in Incentive Aid Funds.

These funds may be used for permanent improvements or for a reduction in the tax structure.

A statement issued by Cameron Supt. D. R. Dodson listed 34 subjects offered in Yoe High School for the 1970-71 year. A statement mailed to The Herald from Milam School, titled "Facts and Information Concerning Milam Schools," did not list subjects offered.

The statement said, "It is true that Milam presents a limited curriculum, but the standards set forth by the Texas Education Agency are more than met by the Milam Schools. All of the fundamental courses basic to any good education are offered by Milam Schools."

"Students are required to take vocational subjects," the statement continued, "which is not the case in larger schools. These courses are beneficial to any student, regardless of his future endeavors."

The Cameron statement cited these student records:

"The Cameron Schools last year produced a Merit scholar; the highest ranking student in the school of engineering at the University of Texas; distinguished scholars at A&M, SMU, Texas Tech and Baylor."

"Cameron students receive a number of scholarships each year in music, science and math. Most college bound students also qualify for advance placement, some picking up as many as 12 semester hours of college credit."

The Milam statement said:

"The graduates of Milam have done well in college or in industry. Records show that numerous students have made the Dean's list in colleges throughout the State and four students have achieved the most enviable award in our area, that being the Alcoa Scholarship."

"This year the highest ranking student in this entire area came from Milam High School. This selection is based not only on local records, but also on National Achievement Records. This should prove the worth of our school."

Martinez Named Acting PD Chief

Your Kids? Or A Few Jobs?

To sum up, your Cameron Herald is for the consolidation of the Milam and Cameron Independent School Districts.

Reasons are numerous in previous editorials such as "What of the Child", "The Larger Truth", "Convinced The More", "Times, Schools Are Changed", "Lucky, Despite Obligations" and several Herald front-page columns.

The time is at hand to choose between your children's future and community pride. The day is Saturday, September 12, to progress.

It is not an easy decision. But there is no question which is more important, is there?

It is no time to ignore the revolution in schools and people of the future, your children of the present. It is hardly time to tell children in Milam classrooms how their parents ought to vote. That is poor judgment and poor leadership in the classroom. It should be resented by parents of Milam pupils. It may be basis for invalidating an election.

It is time, however, for those children to ask parents what is most important in modern classrooms. And parents will tell those children that technical training or better college prep or better specific training is a must in modern high school education.

Milanoans fear for their community. They should fear for their children's future.

More than 90 percent will spend that future somewhere else. Cameron is able to offer Milam high school students about 15 more courses in present academics and is able to assure future technical training not possible in Milam, or any other small school. The advantages in athletics and extra-curricular activities are obvious.

What are you going to tell your children? That their interests are less than yours? That you are afraid of the future? That they ought to be? That civic pride and a few jobs are more important?

This is hardly a one-way advantage for Cameron. It is truly a partnership in the most sweeping period of change in Texas education history, one a consolidation turn down would ignore.

A combined Cameron-Milam district will mean more than $310,000 in state incentive aid to the combined district. It will combine budgets for at least a $1.2 million annual budget. Cameron is in line for additional federal funds to assist its completed desegregation move. The combination is strong medicine for any real academic and technical program.

"What of the child," Milanoans? What of "The Larger Truth" no amount of complacency, community pride and passivity can answer?

Which is it? Your children? Or a few jobs?

Think about it.

NEW EMPLOYEES ABUSE CIVIL SERVICE RULES

Major Tax Bill Looms For Texans Next Year

By Vern Sanford

A veteran state tax bill author predicts that the Legislature will be levying more new taxes on Texans next year than the king-sized $348.6 million revenue bill of 1969.

Forecast was offered by Rep. Ben Atwell of Dallas, chairman of the House Revenue and Taxation Committee and head of the Committee on State and Local Tax Policy.

Bolstering Atwell statistically was James W. McGrew, research director of Texas Research League, who acknowledged that his original estimate of a $400 million tax bill "looks smaller all the time."

Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes frankly concedes that a major tax bill is looming -- unless the federal government agrees to some form of unrestricted revenue sharing with the states or picks up the entire tab for welfare aid. Barnes further acknowledged that he is not optimistic about prospects for a federal rescue in the nick of time. This view was heartily concurred in by Atwell.

Although Barnes and Atwell did not appear far apart in their estimates of revenue need, they were speaking a different language as to sources.

Atwell, who declined recommendations at this point, told newsmen he thinks an increase in the sales tax rate is likely and that the Legislature properly should look to broad-based taxation in 1971.

While going along with the possibility of a sales tax boost, the Lieutenant Governor said flatly that the Senate would insist on balancing any revenue bill with a corresponding tax on business.

Difference in viewpoints perhaps illustrates to some extent the divergence in House and Senate philosophies.

But, once more in harmony, Barnes and Atwell agreed that Texans will be facing state corporate and personal income taxes sometime during this decade.

INSURANCE HIKE DELAYED

Further delay in a public hearing on auto insurance rates or investment income makes any rate increase this year even more unlikely than ever.

State Board of Insurance changed to October 19 the September 9 hearing on whether to consider insurance company investment income in determining insurance rates.

A three-way hearing on auto insurance rates, manual rules and policy forms will be held at a still later date to be announced in the future.

Investment income hearing originally had been slated for July 14 and the rate hearing August 17. One delay already had been ordered.

Companies had hoped to put any new rate increases into effect by September 1, but the delayed meetings made that impossible.

CRIME RATE UP

Major crime rate in Texas rose 19.9 per cent for the first half of 1970, Col. Wilson E. Speir, Texas Department of Public Safety director, reports.

Latest statewide report reflects a major crime is committed every minute from January through June. Sheriffs and local police chiefs furnish the information.

Increase actually is 20.9 per cent in urban areas and 10.5 in rural territory.

Robbery shows the biggest jump -- 40.2 per cent. Rape increased 28.7 per cent, murder 28.1 per cent, theft 21.6 per cent, burglaries 17.9 per cent, auto thefts 16.5 per cent and aggravated assaults 10 per cent.

Speir said an estimated 233,599 major criminal offenses occurred during the January-June period. Comparison-wise, it was 4,404 per 100,000 population. Crime clearances (solutions) declined from 27 per cent during the first half of 1969 to 26 per cent for 1970, but the clearance rate for murder and robbery increased slightly.

ATTY GENERAL OPINIONS

Attorney General, on request of the Air Control Board, can take action based on violation of Board rules, but local government can take action to institute legal proceedings without

Board approval, says Atty. Gen. Crawford C. Martin.

In other recent opinions, Martin concluded that:

Any person receiving probation for driving while intoxicated who refuses to take a chemical breath test for d.w.i. is subject to administrative proceedings to revoke his license.

Neither the State Commissioner of Education nor the State Board of Education has power to determine unliquidated damages on appeal by a teacher dismissed without cause by a school district.

Governor may use his staff to provide direct planning aid to cities.

Higher education Coordinating Board's plan for junior college development lays out service areas, and a junior college district can be expanded under provisions of an applicable statute.

Parks and Wildlife Department can sell development bonds at cash only, and is not authorized to exchange bonds for land to be developed as a park site.

OLD PHILOSOPHER

Dear editor:

I have been reading the census figures for the whole country and find them almost completely alarming.

While the total population is increasing, some of the big cities are losing people, some of them as much as 15 per cent, and you know what that means. It means they're moving out to the suburbs.

Now that in itself is all right. I never could see why people wanted to crowd up in inner cities, after all, the country is now safe from Indian attacks, no use in everybody huddling up inside the fort, but if you look ahead you know what's going to happen. The people who overcrowded the inner cities will be before long over-crowd the suburbs. They're just moving from one un-liveable spot to another.

So what's going to happen? Some real estate man, when his suburban development gets choked up, is going to start saying, "Look, the place to live is out in the country. Plenty of fresh air, room for kids to run, no traffic congestion, no smog, etc. Get out of the un-liveable suburbs and move to the country. Now I've got this tract of

This is what's alarming about the whole thing and if us country people are smart we'll start a campaign to frighten the people away.

Point out, for example, that country living is exaggerated. Water wells are always going dry, water pumps break down right when you have guestseptic tanks clog up, snakes and other varmints are dangerous, you're too far from the fire station and besides there aren't any fire plugs, if you think it's hard to get a repairman in town try to get one in the country, there aren't any neighborhood schools, there aren't even very many neighbors, you'll get lonesome out there, you're ten times as far from your job or the supermarket, there aren't any buses or taxis, there's no garbage pick-up, no home-delivery of newspapers, say, the last thing you want to do is move to the country. Life is miserable out there. Stay miserable where you are and save the cost of moving.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Bully On a Bus

Bus driver Hawkins noticed that one of his passengers, obviously drunk, was getting belligerent toward a young woman. Hoping things would calm down, Hawkins did not interfere.

But things did not calm down. On the contrary, the man climaxed his outburst by giving the woman a vicious kick in the shins.

In due course, she filed a damage suit against the bus company. And a court ruled that the company was indeed liable. The judge said Hawkins had failed to live up to his legal responsibility.

ties as the "man in charge" of the bus.

As a rule, a bus driver has the duty to do some basic policing of his vehicle. When one passenger menaces another, the driver cannot just take refuge in the role of a neutral bystander.

In fact, he may have to take affirmative action not only against grown-up bullies but also against youthful rascals. In another case several teenagers, armed with rubber bands, began firing paper clips around the interior of their school bus.

Again, the driver followed a hands-off policy. But when a girl was struck in the eye and injured, the bus company was held liable in court. The judge said the driver had an affirmative duty to halt this dangerous game.

Nevertheless, since he is not really a policeman, he does not have to go out of his way to search for trouble. Thus:

An intoxicated passenger jabbed a large pin into another man's hip. The indignant victim later demanded damages from the bus company, pointing out that his attacker had been quarrelsome and profane even before thrusting the pin.

But it also appeared that the fellow had been sitting far back in the bus, and that the driver had simply not been aware of his misbehavior. Accordingly, the court found no grounds for placing blame upon the driver.

"His primary duty," said the judge, "is to give his full attention to the operation of the bus. If he concentrates upon this all-important duty, he cannot give attention to the actions of the passengers unless so unusual as to demand it."

Start Fall Sown Pastures Now

By J. D. Moore
The shortage of grazing and hay caused by the lack of rain is creating a real problem for stockmen. A. C. Novosad, Extension specialist, says there are some things which can be done to help solve the problem provided soil moisture becomes available.

Perennial grass pastures should be fertilized now for increased fall production and quality, he says. If pastures have not been fertilized since spring, plant nutrients - especially nitrogen - have been depleted and an application now will correct this situation, he advises.

There is still plenty of growing time over much of the state for good production from bermuda, Klein, buffel, love, Bahia and other grasses. Forage from these grasses can be utilized for grazing or hay or left standing and grazed after frost.

Soil moisture must be available and Novosad has gone to the record books for that information.

A check of rainfall records from 34 stations over the state covering a 40-year period, shows the chances of receiving two inches of rainfall in September ranges from 50 to 80 percent in the eastern two-thirds of the state.

This probability, he points out, increases as you move from west to east. About the same probability also exists for October.

He notes that the probability for two inches of rain in both September and October is about the same as for a like amount in June in this area and is better than the probabilities for July and August.

Start Fall Sown Pastures Now
1. Prepare a good seed bed.
2. Apply a good application of fertilizer, 80-60-0.
3. Sow 60 lbs oats, 15 lbs rye grass - plant oats with a grain drill - drop rye on top of grain and harrow lightly.
4. Poison for army worms when oats are up to a good start.

SCS News

Increasing water infiltration, holding soil moisture, reducing erosion and improving the working ability of the soil, have always been problems with farmers.

These farming difficulties have been greatly reduced by one farmer in the Little River - San Gabriel Soil and Water Conservation District.

Larry Spiegelbauer has learned to manage his crop residue so he can better overcome these problems. Larry practices a conservation cropping system of two years out of three of grain sorghum on his cropland which he manages as a high residue soil improving crop.

He shreds his stalks as soon as the maize is combined and beds and rebeds his land. "I never graze, burn or bale maize stubble. I return 4-5 thousand pounds of maize stubble to the acre back to my land each year," Larry said.

Plowing in the manner which Larry does will leave about half the residue on or near the soil surface. This residue will help protect the soil during a critical erosion period from Sept. 1 to Dec. 31 when hard torrential rains often occur.

With more than 2 tons of crop residue mixed into his soil, Spiegelbauer has reduced the amount of runoff during a hard rain and increased the water infiltration rate of his soil.

The residue has reduced the rain drop impact, by slowing the rain drops down thus preventing the breakdown of soil aggregates. His fields now have more moisture because of the increased organic matter and the shading caused by the crop residue.

Larry said, "On occasion, I add 40 pounds of nitrogen per acre to prevent a nitrogen deficiency." About 20 pounds of N per acre per ton of crop residue may be needed to enable the bacteria in the soil to break down the stubble without tying up all the available nitrogen from the next crop.

Crop residue use is a very important part of my farming system," said Larry. For more information on how crop residue use can become a part of your farming system, consult your local Soil Conservation District and Soil Conservation Service.

Destroy Cotton Stalks To Combat Bollworm, Weevil

Shredding cotton stalks and plowing them under immediately following harvest has long been recognized by cotton producers as extremely important in combating the pink bollworm.

This practice is also most effective in reducing the potential diapausing boll weevil population. John G. Thomas, Extension entomologist, notes.

"Total stalk destruction immediately following harvest is not only extremely devastating to the boll weevil population, which is destined to enter diapause and infest fields the following year, but also adds little, if any, to the cotton production cost," Thomas said. Properly timing these operations consistently makes the difference in effective weevil suppression and results in reduced weevil numbers the following year."

Stalk destruction will prove extremely important in areas of Texas where diapause boll weevil control programs are conducted and in the areas where a short crop is anticipated, he said. Such an area can be found in San Patricio and Nueces counties where Celia recently dealt extensive damage to the cotton crop, he added.

"Where harvest is not anticipated, growers are encouraged to shred stalks and plow them under to a depth of at least six inches as soon as possible," Thomas said. "In other areas of the state, growers should shred stalks and plow under debris as harvest is completed.

Where dessicants or defoliants are used in preparing the crop for harvest, Thomas urged adding an insecticide to kill weevils before they enter their overwintering sites, and added that growers should check with the county agent on the insecticide to use.

"Stalk destruction and plowing under the stubble deprives insects of the food supply which is necessary for obtaining sufficient fat reserves to enter winter diapause and successfully survive," he said. "This practice is most effective in reducing populations of pink bollworm, boll weevil, cotton bollworm and tobacco budworm in the following growing season."

And, concludes the entomologist, the most effective program is the one in which producers over a wide area participate.

Bryan Firm Complies With P&S Act

Bryan Livestock Commission Company, Inc., a posted stockyard at Bryan, has been ordered to stop violating bonding requirements under the Packers and Stockyards Act, the U. S. Department of Agriculture said today.

The firm, its officers, directors, agents and employees were ordered to cease and desist from engaging in business in any capacity for which bonding is required under the Act without filing an acceptable bond or its equivalent.

The firm has obtained bond coverage and is now in compliance with the bonding requirements.

The cease and desist order - like a permanent injunction - was issued to insure future compliance with the P&S Act.

P&S requires market agencies to provide bonds as a measure of financial protection to sellers.

Bryan Livestock Commission Company, Inc., consented to the order when it answered the administrative complaint issued by USDA's Packers and Stockyards Administration. It waived oral hearing.

Texas Corn Not Affected By New Blight Disease

Southern Corn Leaf Blight, the fungus disease playing havoc with corn crops in some states, reached Texas just a little too late.

The fungus disease is reported to be a serious problem in Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia and Florida, however, its occurrence in Texas was too late in the season to cause substantial yield losses, Dr. C. Wendell Horne, Extension plant pathologist, said.

"The infection of Southern Corn Leaf Blight that hit most of the major corn-producing areas of the U.S. is caused by a suspected new race of the fungus parasite, Helminthosporium maydis," he said.

"Greatest yield losses have been observed when severe infection occurred at the beginning of the silk and tassel stage; however, Texas corn was past this stage before serious infestation problems began."

Many corn growers are probably asking themselves if they should forget about raising corn

next year and grow another crop.

"It would be somewhat shortsighted to not plant corn because the disease might occur again next year," Dr. Horne said.

"Three factors must be present before there can be another disease occurrence.

"There must be a susceptible host, and we know that this is present because of this year's disease problem.

"The pathogen, or infecting agent, must be present in sufficient quantities to cause infection, and this depends on many factors, which just happened to all be favorable this year.

"And, the weather conditions must be conducive to this disease; in other words, favorable moisture."

The disease may occur again next year or it may be several years before the disease again occurs, he said. It depends on all conditions being present and favorable at one time, Dr. Horne said.

He added that seed corn producers, very concerned about the disease, are making every effort possible to make resistant hybrids available in case this disease continues to be a problem.

School Consolidation

When school consolidation is mentioned, the alarm "community destruction" sounds.

Where were these cries, Milano Schools, when smaller community schools were consolidated into Milano? It was considered progress, and students benefitted immeasurably and history proved the idea of consolidation correct.

To starve young minds on a weak diet of sub-standard education--in this era of technology--for community political interests is tragic.

Small communities were established in "horse and buggy" days to simplify transportation. Technology, a by-product of good education, changed this. The one-room school, which served so well, was replaced by larger schools a few miles down the road.

The wheel of time has turned again, Milano. Progress has said once again modern needs require more than can be properly given in a small school.

Milano school patrons, the time has come for us to think of our children instead of arbitrary lines of community boundaries. These lines exist mostly in our minds. These lines restrict our children's progress in school.

also was an old dry hole which Teton and Leonard, Austin operators, drilled to 2,815 feet and abandoned. Both the Crump and the Miller wildcats were drilled to around 3,300 feet by Keesee & Thomas, hitting pay in the Navarro. A new drilling technique was used in both wells. Seven and one-half inch pipe was used in both holes instead of the usual 4 1/2 inch pipe for shallow tests. And they were treated with 500 gallons of acid prior to being sand-fraced. Reportedly the two wells produce a total of around 155 barrels per day flowing and on pump. Potential has not yet been reported if it has been run.

The new wildcat scheduled for the Milbur Field area will be drilled by Stanley H. Rosenthal, a Bay City operator. It will be his No. 1 R. D. Busch, located on a 193 acre lease in David Houston Survey. Reportedly it will be a Navarro try permitted to around 3,500 feet.

Most of the production in the Milbur Field, however, is from the basal Wilcox which lies above the Navarro in that area. Rosenthal is a new operator in the field.

The five or six new wildcats rumored being planned for the Cherokee Navarro Field area are due to be scheduled by Byron Rose, the Houston operator who opened the field last October when he brought in his No. 1 and No. 2 Ray Woods as 85 and 101 barrel per day producers.

Some of the wildcats reportedly will be offsets to wells drilled by other operators in the Cherokee Navarro field.

Sheriff Reports Weekend DWI's, Breakins

The Labor Day weekend was just that for county law enforcement officers as they reported arrests for driving while intoxicated, fighting, and thefts.

County Sheriff Carl Black said seven arrests had been made for DWI over the three-day weekend. Black also reported the arrests of three Temple men Sunday night in connection with a fight at Burlington Hall in Burlington.

Walker's Store in Milano was apparently broken into Sunday night and $60 cash was reported stolen, the Sheriff said.

Will Ondrej, Cameron blacksmith, reported the theft of his wristwatch and a number of new wrenches from his shop on West Batte St. Sheriff Black said the thief or thieves were barefooted and apparently entered the shop through the roof.

Rose has done no drilling in recent months and so far as known has scheduled no new wildcats.

Old Navigation Device Gets New Application

AUSTIN

A navigation device used by ancient mariners has found a bizarre new use in Texas.

Somewhere in the depths of Medina Lake near San Antonio swims a 13-pound yellow catfish with an electronic transmitter in his abdominal cavity, and somewhere on the surface of the lake is a boat manned by Texas Parks and Wildlife Department fisheries specialists.

The fish's movements are being plotted with a sextant, a device which fixes locations by measuring angles between known points.

The Department's inland fisheries biologists don't ordinarily use the sextant in their daily activities, although their counterparts in the coastal fisheries sometimes use them.

The biologists were given an instruction course in sextant use by members of the San Antonio Power Squadron, which often cooperates with the Department's Water Safety Services but seldom works with fisheries specialists.

The sextant course was prompted by the need to record exact locations of the test fish on a lake which has few natural landmarks. The yellow catfish is one of the more desirable game species in the state, and biologists seek to learn more about its migratory movements.

The migratory study is the final phase of a two-year yellow catfish study by fisheries biologists Kirby W. Ghoulson and Wilfred J. Dean Jr.

The transmitter was inserted in the test fish's belly through an incision. After healing, the fish was released into the lake.

The two-man boat crews determined the transistorized fish's position with electronic equipment and then used the sextant to find the exact location by aiming at painted posts they had placed on the shoreline.

The actual plotting was done later on a large map, using the locations pinpointed by sextant.

Lane T. Sealy, commander of the squadron, told the Department in a letter that the squadron enjoyed teaching the course and asked that they be called upon again "if your sextant technique gets a little rusty."

Gatesville Edges Past Yoe Friday

A well coached Gatesville team led by quarterback Steve Brazier defeated Cameron 6-0 in a controlled scrimmage here Friday night.

Brazier scored the only touchdown of the night on a 57-yard romp early in their first offensive series. The play began as an option and the lanky quarterback sped around right end and outran the Cameron defenders to the goal.

The solid defense of the Hornets repeatedly thwarted the Yoemen drives forcing numerous fumbles and interceptions.

The Fighting Yoemen passing attack never seemed to get started as several passes ended up in the arms of Hornet defenders.

Richard Cummings stepped in for Cameron's second offensive series and continually led them deep into Hornet territory but costly errors stalled each scoring opportunity. During one drive, Cummings glided around right end and raced 55 yards for Cameron's longest gain of the night.

The hard running of Manuel Thomas, Ernie DeLa Rosa, Sam Knight, and Edward Whitley continually kept the Yoemen offense moving but the big play that breaks open a close defensive battle never came.

The tough Yoe defense led by Sam Knight and the "Bailey Boys" pulled themselves together after early lapses and snuffed out further Gatesville scoring.

From early indications, the Fighting Yoemen are molding into a fine unit both offensively and defensively. They have played two fine AAA teams virtually to a standstill in the past two weeks, and meet another AAA team, Taylor, of the same caliber this Friday night here to open the 1970 season. With a little extra work, the Fighting Yoemen should field a team that the people of Cameron can be proud of.

OUTDOORS IN TEXAS BY VERN SANFORD

That famous Little Dutch Boy with the big finger, who plugged the hole in the dike in Holland, would have found himself hopelessly helpless in Texas today.

At least that's so in one area of the State. That is unless he had a vulcanizing kit!

What do we mean by all this? Well, we're referring to Bay City, Texas . . . southwest of Houston . . . and to its new DAM.

There the Lower Colorado River Authority has installed a RUBBER dam on the Colorado River. Yes, we mean RUBBER!

It's a clever trick . . . and it works! Not only does it hold back valuable water but it preserves it for later use, right where it's badly needed for agricultural purposes. This is the rice growing country of Texas and one of the state's most valuable industries.

No crop takes more water than rice. And water doesn't always fall when or where it's needed.

Due to LCRA's foresightedness and willingness to gamble, the rice boys are in business in a big way. In fact this year they may get in a third crop, thanks to the little rubber dam.

You've never heard of a rubber dam? Well, brother, you're not alone. Most people haven't.

But it's there and it's holding back Colorado River water that otherwise would have poured freely into the Gulf of Mexico—some 12 miles downstream.

Where is the dam located? It's just a few miles from downtown Bay City and right alongside the Country Club golf course.

It's an impressive sight, really, considering the fact that it is one of the country's first and definitely the largest in the United States.

To begin at the beginning, first the construction crew builds a 30-foot wide reinforced steel and concrete base all the way across the river bed. This after diverting the water around that area, of course. This supporting base rests on pilings driven some 40 feet below the river bed. It is on this concrete base that the rubber dam is mounted. It's anchored to the slab with stainless steel anchor bolts cast integrally with the concrete.

Prime feature of the dam is a huge, sausage shaped rubber tube 227 feet long and 13 feet in diameter . . . sealed at both ends. This huge rubber tube has a skin thickness of a quarter of an inch. It's total weight is 18,000 pounds.

Each end of the tube is securely bolted to a concrete abutment. One end is connected with a water system and an air compression plant.

Secret of holding the inflatable dam in a firm position is in partial inflation of the mammoth rubber tube with WATER. This serves as a base, for a solid footing . . . with the water that's in the tube holding back the water that's in the river.

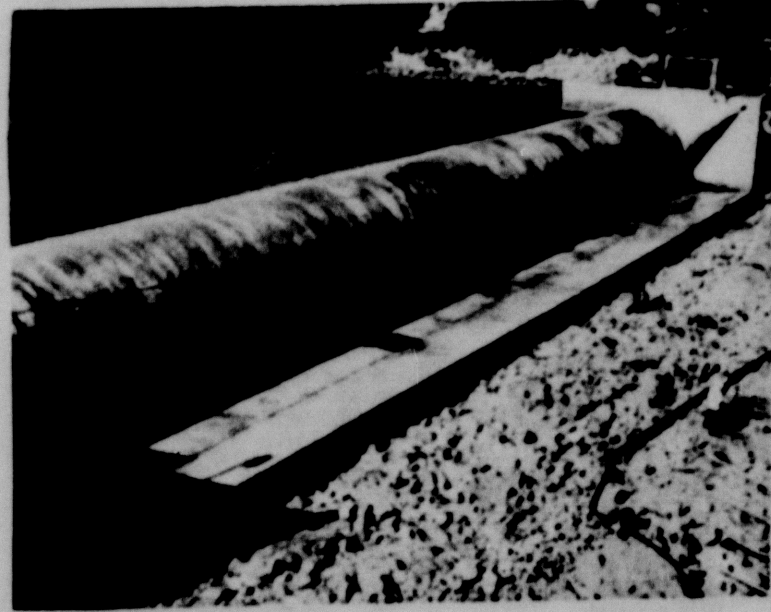

AIR then is pumped into the tube to complete the expansion of the rubber dam and raise its height to whatever level they wish to maintain the water. Limit, of course, is roughly 13 feet . . . the diameter of the tube. Actually it's less since the height of the water in the tube flattens it out a bit at the bottom . . . and the weight of the onrushing water causes the "dam" to lean a little towards the downstream side. Actual shape of the dam in use is more like a teardrop on its side.

In viewing the installation we observed that the water depth gauge showed 32 feet. Water was within three feet of the top of the dam. So the concrete foundation evidently is several feet in height.

Backing up that much water, for even a very few miles, can mean much to the rice farmers. Also, equally as much to the upstream areas where the river's water level is steadily falling at the moment, and has been for several months.

So, the Little Rubber dam (technically named Fabridam by its maker, the Firestone Tire and Rubber Company) already has proved its worth.

And when the need for the water has ended, or floods come (what's that?), valves can be opened and both the air and the water drawn from within the mammoth tube. Then the little rubber dam settles down on its concrete base and the rushing waters of the Colorado flow over it . . . and on into the Gulf of Mexico.

Sometimes I used to get by, 'cause all the hot water would be gone before it was my turn. But now, boy, there's ALWAYS hot water. Mom sure is happy about it. She says a 'lectric water heater reheats fast, so she can do the dishes, my dirty blue jeans and me all in the same night. But wow, it sure is a bad deal for me. ## Smith Among FB Group On South American Tour

John A. Smith of Cameron was among a group of Texas Farm Bureau members that departed last week on a 16 day tour of six South American countries to study agriculture and marketing conditions there.

The group left Houston by jet September 3 on the trip, called the Texas Farm Bureau market builder tour. They transferred to a Braniff jet in Miami, and arrived at their first stop, Panama City, Panama, that same day.

From there they went to Brazil for a four day stay, first at Brasilia, the national capitol, then to Rio de Janeiro, and a side trip to Petropolis, a mountain resort.

The group's itinerary, after departure from Rio on September 9, will include Montevideo, Uruguay, for three days; Buenos Aires and other cities in Argentina for three days, then a jet flight across the Andes to Santiago, Chile, for two days in that city and in Vina Del Mar and Valparaiso, and a morning flight to Lima, Peru, for two days in that country.

From Lima the group will fly back to Houston by way of Miami on September 19.

Along with sightseeing in the cities on the tour, the group of Farm Bureau members will visit sites of agriculture interest, especially ranches in Uruguay and Argentina, both cattle producing countries, and a big dairy farm and cotton plantations in Peru.

Smith, who has a large scale farming operation in east Milam, several months ago was named Director of the Farm Bureau's District 8, which includes Milam County.

Baylor To Present 'Sr George'

"The Killing of Sister George," a modern play dealing with the exploitation of persons by others, will open Sept. 11 at Baylor University Theater. The play will continue Sept. 12 and 14 through 19. All performances will be at 8 p.m. in the theater's Weston Studio.

Bill G. Cook, director of Baylor Theater, is the director of the play.

The play concerns a radio personality in London who is being "killed" on the air because of a decline in popularity. She is a domineering, brazen and offensive-type character, especially in the relationship with her young girlfriend. She expresses love only when it may profit her, and seldom is it sincere.

Underlying the plot is the message of disturbed human relations resulting in situations of personal exploitation.

Season and individual performance tickets are available by writing Baylor Theater, Box Office, Baylor University, Waco, Texas 76703 or by calling 755-1861.

Season tickets are $8.50 for the four major productions, two graduate thesis productions and a theater reading. Individual major production tickets are $2 each.

Spun Glass Found In Bird Nest

AUSTIN

Pollution is not just the dumping of chemical waste into streams or the poisoning of the atmosphere with exhaust fumes. In small but important ways, man is polluting the environment in ways he can't even imagine.

Texas Parks and Wildlife Department biologist Dan Lay of Nacogdoches recently found an empty nest built by a crested flycatcher. The well-constructed nest was nestled in an old woodpecker hole.

On close inspection, Lay found the nest lined with several tufts of spun glass of the type used for house insulation.

The nesting bird apparently had picked up the prickly material from a trash dump. Lay doubts that the delicate newborn birds could have survived the irritating presence of the glass.

No one knows how many other incidents such as this have hindered reproduction of birds and other living creatures.

Pinto, Ford Division's frisky new little car, kicks up its heels with two engines, a 1600-cc. base powerplant and a 2000-cc. option. With "Pintopower" to spare, it excels at turnpike speeds and in tight passing situations. Small and light, Pinto gallops through the heaviest traffic and can wiggle into the tightest parking place. Ford dealers will introduce the '71 Pinto on September 11.

Absentee Ballot Requests

Have October 30 Deadline

Any qualified Texas voter eligible to cast an absentee ballot by mail may now make application to his county clerk for an absentee ballot for the November 3 general election.

In order to vote absentee by mail in this election, a voter must: (1) be unable to appear Nov. 3 at the polling place because of sickness or physical disability; or (2) expect to be absent from his county of residence on Nov. 3 and during the county clerk's office hours throughout the period Oct. 14 - Oct. 30.

Details as to absentee voting procedure may be obtained from a voter's county clerk. Generally, these provisions apply: A voter applying for an absentee ballot by reason of sickness or physical disability must mail his application to the county clerk. It should be accompanied by the voter's registration certificate, and by a certificate of a duly licensed physician, chiropractor or accredited Christian Science practitioner certifying to the voter's illness or physical disability.

A voter desiring to vote absentee by reason of absence from the county may either deliver or mail his application for absentee ballot to the county clerk. In the application, the voter must state that he expects to be absent from the county on election day and during the clerk's regular office hours for the entire period of personal appearance absentee voting (Oct. 14 - Oct. 30). The absentee ballot then must be mailed to the voter at an address outside his county of residence. Also, the envelope in which the voter returns the ballot must be postmarked from a point outside his county of residence.

Voter registration in Texas this year hit an all-time high of 4,150,645. On Nov. 3, voters will express their preference in state, district and local races, as well as on seven proposed state constitutional amendments.

ADVANCED NAVIGATOR TO UNJAM AIRPORTS

Arlington, Va. — (HK) — The most sophisticated air navigation system developed to date will be ready to go to work unjamming the world's massive air traffic.

The precise navigational accuracy and high reliability of the new hybrid Loran-C/D (HYLO) navigator are expected to contribute significantly to the solution of major air traffic problems. The new nine-pound airborne navigator should permit commercial airliners to get off the runways and into the air at a more rapid frequency, thereby relieving a major cause of the ever-increasing traffic congestion both on the ground and in the world's air corridors. It is being built by International Engineering Co., Arlington, Va., a division of A-T-O Inc.

Peak Traffic Conditions

The result of imprecise measuring techniques used until now has been "that the 550 commercial aircraft that occupy the North Atlantic air corridor during peak traffic conditions are required to maintain a physical separation of 1,000 feet vertically, 50 miles to either side and 300 miles along the flight path," according to Elmer M. Lipsey, president of International Engineering who invented the basic Loran-C/D concept in 1963. "Consequently, aircraft between the U. S. and Europe are held for clearance until the 'track' is clear, resulting in lengthy delays at the world's most popular airports."

The effort to reduce minimum safe separation requirements has been under study by the Federal Aviation Administration and ICAO. This objective has been to create an "accordion effect," the compression of air traffic filling these corridors, thereby reducing ground delays at originating and terminal airports.

Although the basic Loran-C/D HYLO concept was invented in 1963, it was not until recently that small electronic circuits called LSI circuits, for large-scale integration, had advanced far enough to allow economical production of hardware to implement the highly accurate, advanced navigation technique that can permit closer safe spacing of aircraft in flight.

Meet Ford's new Pinto. The little carefree car.

If you have the questions, Pinto has the answers.

Q. What do you mean, "carefree"?

A. Pinto is designed to free you from car cares, big and little. Cares about high prices and big gas bills. Cares about parking. Cares about service and reliability. Power and stability. Quiet and roominess.

Q. You say Pinto is little. How little?

A. Pinto is only 3 inches longer than a VW. But its turning circle is actually a little less, so Pinto can slip easily into tight parking spaces.

Q. And inside?

A. Pinto gives you more interior roominess overall than Volkswagen. And getting in and out is easier because Pinto's doors are a good half-foot wider.

Q. What about price?

A. Pinto is priced like the little economy imports, too.

Q. What about power?

A. Pinto delivers 75 horsepower and averages over 25 miles per gallon in simulated city/suburban driving. The engine is front-mounted and exceptionally quiet for a car in this class. Pinto is the only American economy car equipped with a 4-speed, fully synchronized transmission at no extra cost.

Q. What else is standard equipment?

A. High Back bucket seats. Direct-Aire ventilation with upper-level fresh air outlets. Heater/defroster with 3-speed fan. Two-speed electric windshield wipers. Electric windshield washers. Your choice of 15 exterior colors. And more.

Q. How about optional extras?

A. Pinto offers a 100-hp engine and 3-speed automatic transmission. Front disc brakes. Even built-in air conditioning. Tinted glass. Vinyl roof. "Flipper" rear quarter windows. Fold-down rear seat. Bumper guards and side molding with vinyl inserts to protect the paint. More than most imports offer—at prices economy-car buyers can afford.

Q. Reliability?

A. Pinto's engine has already logged 50 million owner-driven miles. And the strength of some of Pinto's parts makes ordinary little economy cars look puny by comparison. Parts like the starter motor, ball joints, rear wheel bearings are heavy duty. Craftsmanship? Pinto is the only American car with hand-matched transmission gears.

Q. What's Pinto like out on the road?

A. Pinto has a wider stance than any economy import, for better stability in turns and gusty crosswinds. For more road feel, and more precise handling, Pinto has rack & pinion steering—like Porsche and Jaguar—something you won't find on any other American car.

Q. Tell me about service.

A. Pinto is so simple you can do much of the maintenance yourself, if you like. The Owner's Manual shows you how. And Pinto's free Do-It-Yourself Key helps you perform minor service functions.

Q. Suppose I don't service Pinto myself?

A. You still save when your Ford Dealer does it. For example, Pinto needs an oil change half as often as the leading import. And a chassis lube only one-sixth as often.

Q. Sounds great—where can I test-drive Pinto?

A. Your nearest Ford Dealer. And if you have any more questions, he can answer them.

A Little Better Idea from Ford.

The challenge of being the only.

As any wise husband knows, no woman likes to be taken for granted. It's the little things that count, like remembering anniversaries, or bringing home flowers for no particular reason.

Like the wise husband we try not to take you, our customer, for granted. Being the only phone company in town, we make a special effort to be courteous, kind, considerate, and understanding.

The fact that we are the only phone company in town is a challenge. The challenge is "not to act like it."

Performances Set For Czech Beseda Dancers

Word of the colorful dancing of the Cameron Folk Fete Czech Beseda Dancers has spread across the state and brought invitations to perform in three events this fall.

The dancers, sponsored by Mrs. Frank Mikulec, include both adults and children. Their costumes, like the intricate folk dances they perform, are authentic Czech design.

The group, along with the Cameron Folk Fete German Dancers, will perform at 8:30 p.m. Sunday, September 13, at the annual St. Cyril and Methodius Picnic in Marak. The Czech dancers will be joined by one circle from the SPJST Lodge 47 at Seaton.

Two other performances are scheduled for the Czech Beseda Dancers in October.

They will perform at an October 10 evening appearance at the 10th annual Coppini Art Exhibit and 4th annual Texas-wide Craft Show in Salado to spotlight the annual arts and crafts Show sponsored by the Museum of History.

Miss Juliana Crowden is chairman of this event at Salado and honorary chairmen are Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson and Mrs. Liz

Carpenter. It is a working show which offers the public an opportunity to watch master craftsmen produce their work.

On October 18 the dancers will be in Dallas for a guest appearance on the Czech Day Program at the State Fair of Texas.

John G. Bubak, chairman of the American Czech Festival Society extended the invitation to the 40 member folk dance group to help celebrate the 30th anniversary of Czech Day at the State Fair.

Teen Dance Friday Night

The dance will be from 10:30 p.m. until 12:30 a.m. Admission will be $1 for singles and $1.50 for couples. Everyone is invited.

Convert Coffee Maker To Hot Punch Brewer

The standard coffeemaker has many more uses than we once suspected because we keep trying new things. As we keep watching for new recipe ideas we see some delightful looking hot punches appearing and here is one to pass on to your friends during the holidays. It may be a good idea to have copies along side the coffeemaker because your recipe collector friends will be sure to want one.

Place 1/2 cup firmly-packed brown sugar, 4 whole cloves, 4 whole allspice, 2 cinnamon sticks broken into 1-inch pieces into the basket. Put two quarts of apple cider into coffee pot and allow to go through perk cycle. When ready to serve, remove basket and float one lemon thinly sliced on top of hot mulled cider.

Your coffeemaker can also be used for hot malted milks, instant coffees, consommés and cocoa. Of course, it is especially handy for tasty, traditional coffees and to keep your pot sparkling clean and coffee fresh tasting here are tips on the use and care of the coffeemaker.

Clean valves, tubes, spouts, baskets, etc. with stiff brush after each use. Wash filters in clear water. Give filter a weekly boil in clear water. Use brush to reach inaccessible parts. Scour lightly with a soap-filled pad as needed.

For aluminum pots, a solution of one tablespoon cream of tartar to two cups of water will keep the coffeemaker sweet and clean.

For pots of stainless steel, ceramic or glass a solution in the proportion of one and one-half tablespoons baking soda to six cups of water should be used.

Fill the pot and proceed as for making coffee. Wash with soapy water, rinse and dry. If a commercial cleaner is used, follow instructions exactly.

For seldom used coffeemakers, clean thoroughly before and after each use to eliminate metallic taste.

BOOKS for CHILDREN

The paleface is again in conflict with the redskin. And again the conflict revolves around the white man's reluctance to stand by his treaties and the red man's difficulties with the white man's civilization.

For nearly a century those of us east of the frontier were grossly misinformed on the Indians' customs, dress, and behavior. In recent years however, movies, television, and books have been more accurate and the wagons have almost ceased their dizzy circling. The Indian is now presented in relationship to his own environment and background.

Young people always seem partial to books about Indians, and they are quick to recognize authenticity (or lack of it). If your local long range weather forecast hints at rain and you expect a day or more when your Indians are going to be confined to the homestead, go now to the library and bring back some books about our red brothers. A few suggestions:

Pontiac by Marion E. Gridlev. Illustrated. (Ages 8 to 10). More than a biography of the Ottawa chief, the book presents with strength and clarity the struggle of the Indians to retain their own way of life and their lands.

Living in Navajoland by Flora Hood. Illustrated. (Ages 8 to 10). Though fiction, this book tells of life among the Navajo today as Hosteen and his sister Dezbah attend a healing chant and travel to the Inter-Tribal gathering at Gallup, New Mexico.

Indians of the Great Basin and Plateau by Francis Haines. (Ages 12 to 16). Mr. Haines tells eloquently the history of the Indians who developed a great horse culture after learning from the Spaniards and capturing horses by raiding the Spanish ranches. He traces the difficulties the Indians suffered with the growing migration of white settlers, the Indian uprisings, and the mismanagement of reservations and treaties. This is the story of the Nez Perce, Shoshoni, Ute, Paiute, Yakima, Crow and Blackfeet.

The Indians of Carlisle by William Heuman. (Ages 12 to 14). The story of the founding of the famous industrial school that brought forth Jim Thorpe

Miss Allene Griswold of Dallas spent the Labor Day holidays with her mother, Mrs. R. A. Griswold of Cameron.

MENTAL HEALTH MATTERS

Bertram S. Brown, M. D., Director
National Institute of Mental Health

Changing Needs

The fact that the needs for mental health treatment and services are changing and growing is apparent in every community in the United States.

One example is the phenomenon of drug abuse. Any psychiatrist who does not think that treatment of drug abusers and prevention of the misuse of drugs is not his concern is indulging in wishful thinking.

Drug abuse is no longer limited to the ghettos or to young people. It has spread through every social and economic group from the slums to the suburbs and to every age group, including kindergarten-age glue sniffers.

At the National Institute of Mental Health—as at every State and local mental health agency—requests for help come in by the hundreds, day after day, from parents of drug abusers and from abusers themselves.

"Where can I go for help?" is the basic question.

There is the promise of future help, if Federal preferential support for drug abuse service programs is included among community mental health programs, as has been proposed.

But it does seem that every psychiatrist, especially, already has the obligation, as he certainly must already have the opportunity, to seek information and enable himself to counsel and treat the victims of drug abuse.

It has been fashionable to equate drug abuse with the youth drug culture and leave treatment to a few "hippie psychiatrists."

But drug misuse has outgrown yesterday's "drug culture." Its epidemic proportions place a responsibility on all health professional workers.

Psychiatry and other health professions should take the lead in treating the underlying causes of drug abuse and in joining with other community leaders in providing alternatives for "drug highs" to the many thousands who will not face life as they see it.

Ours is a technological society geared for chemical escape from reality. But there are signs that psychiatry and the other medical and health professions are recognizing this, gearing themselves to cope with it, and moving toward vigorous and essential efforts to meet the changing needs of the times represented in the mental and emotional disorders that leave no single one of us untouched today.

CHEVY'S NEW LITTLE CAR IS OPEN FOR BUSINESS.

We call it Vega.
We also call it "the little car that does everything well."
Because it does.

Everything? Everything.

Vega moves well, stops well, steers well, rides well, handles well, responds well, passes well, travels well, parks well, wears well, and is priced well under what you'd expect to pay for such a talented little car.

In our highway tests, Vega has been getting gas mileage in the neighborhood of the little imports, which isn't a bad neighborhood.

Yet unlike your average little car, ours steps right out when you step on the gas.

The engine is a specially designed overhead cam four with a lightweight aluminum alloy block. It turns slowly and quietly at turnpike speeds, with power to spare.

Disc brakes are standard in the front. So are bucket seats, except on the truck.

How we doing so far?

Numbers speak louder than words.

The wheelbase is 97 inches. Total length is just under 170 inches, or nearly four feet shorter than a full-size Chevrolet.

Height of the coupe is just 50 inches, nine inches lower than the leading import.

Width: a nice stable 5 1/2 feet.

Weight: 2,190 lbs. for the sedan.

Engine displacement: 140 cubic inches.

Fuel economy: about 25 mpg, with the standard engine and transmission, in our highway tests.

Horsepower: 90. You can order 110. (80 and 93 hp, SAE Net.)

Seating capacity: 4 adults.

What it all adds up to is a lot of little car.

Three cars and a truck. Vega turned out so well that we couldn't turn out just one.

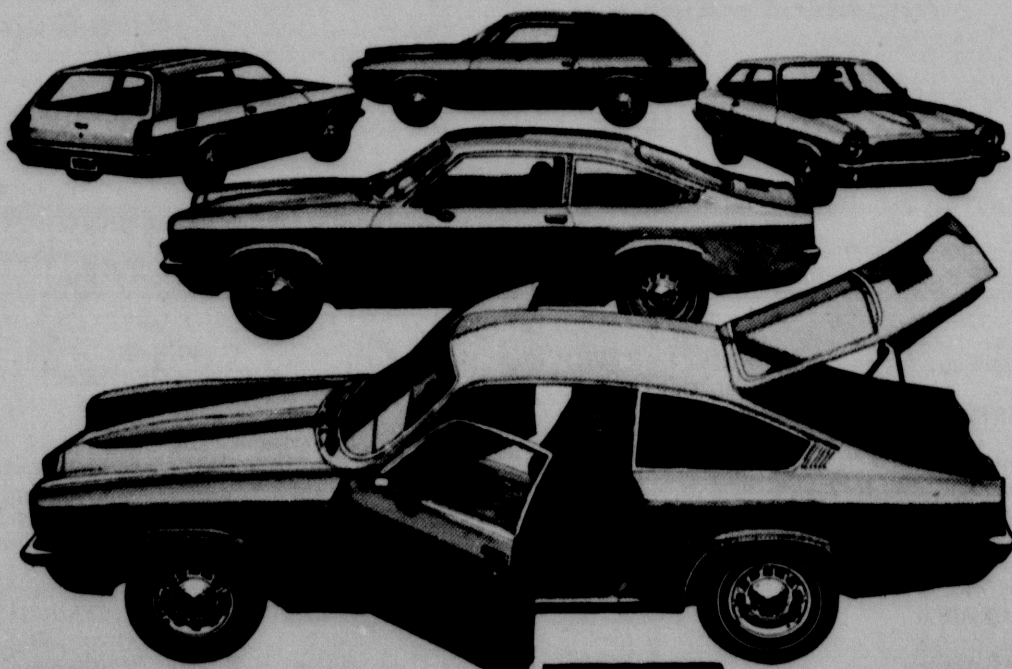

So we're turning out four: the sporty little hatchback coupe shown open and closed in the foreground below; the sedan, on the right; the Kamback wagon, on the left; and the little panel truck, in the rear.

Oh, and a special GT version of the coupe and wagon which we'll show you later on.

September 10th is Opening Day.

All 6,300 Chevrolet dealers are handling Vega, so you shouldn't have to go very far to see and drive one.

Chevy's new little car is open for business. Look into it.

STRIVE FOR PEACE

"Try to be at peace with all men" (Hebrews 12:14).
We are forever talking of peace, but we continue to quarrel. We think we must fight. We demonstrate with hate and destruction as our motivating force. How shall I change it? What is my next step? How do I become a real peace maker? The Scriptures clearly give the message. "Thou shalt love thy brother." Then, if I am serious, I must answer. I must put love in place of hate. I must frankly face the fact that I actually hate or despise another man who also is a son of God. That is my sin. Immediately I must look into his life and discover some good I must love him. Do not hate a Democrat, or Republican, or a Black man, or a White man, or a Jew, Catholic, or Protestant. Other people love those guys, why can't I? I too must discover some good which I don't know about, if I am to set myself free of hate. Then, I must seriously set out to live Hebrews 12:14.
